Claremont youth dies in Baldy crash

Another seriously hurt in accident

By L.T. ROGERS
Asst. City Editor

One Claremont youth was killed and another was seriously injured Wednesday when their car ran off Mt. Baldy Road near Padua Avenue above Claremont and knocked down a small tree before rolling over several times.

Marc Rubinstein, 15, of 842 Knox Place was declared dead on his arrival at Pomona Valley Community Hospital. He was a passenger in the car driven by Lance Christian Smith, 16, of 1663 Lafayette Road.

Smith was admitted to the hospital's intensive care unit, where his condition is reported as critical. He suffered multiple fractures, internal injuries and cuts and bruises.

Investigators reported that Smith was ejected from the sedan after it left Mt. Baldy Road and landed on an asphalt service road. He was found about 50 feet from where the car finally stopped.

Rubinstein was found inside the car with a shoulder harness across his torso. The belt was not believed fastened.

Highway patrolmen said the car was traveling south on Mt. Baldy Road at a high rate of speed when Smith apparently lost control as he rounded a slight curve.

The car went into a skid and spun around with the vehicle facing north as it went off the dirt shoulder. It knocked down two paddle markers, uprooted a pine tree, hit several large rocks and then rolled over several times. The car was demolished.

The vehicle's door was found on the ground a short distance from where the car reportedly struck several large rocks.

Several witnesses reported observing the car going between 60 and 90 miles an hour south on Mt. Baldy Road and then sliding sideways off the road after going past a small curve.

Los Angeles County firemen assigned to the Padua Avenue fire station reported a woman came to the station to report the accident.

Rubinstein's body was taken to the Los Angeles County Coroner's Office, where an autopsy was to be performed.

Weather

Partly cloudy today, fair and a little warmer Friday. High today 74, low tonight 50, high Friday 78. The high Wednesday was 72 and the overnight low was 49. Friday's sunrise 5:47, sunset 6:07.

Bradley throws support behind Ward RTD plan

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mayor Tom Bradley has thrown his support behind a drive to put Supervisor Baxter Ward's multibillion-dollar transit plan on the June 8 ballot.

"This is a sound proposal," Bradley told a meeting of the Southern California Rapid Transit District board of directors Wednesday. "I urge the board to place the concept and supporting financing provisions on the June 8 ballot."

The mayor's announcement marked his first public statement that he favored the 232-mile, high-speed system developed by Ward, his staff and county departments.

Bradley said he thought Ward's plan, which includes several changes from its original version, "now warrants the people's support."

Ward is seeking voter approval of a 1-cent sales tax increase to finance the regional rapid transit system, which he says will cost $5.8 billion.

Bradley's announcement came as RTD directors delayed until Friday a decision on whether to put the financing plan for Ward's Sunset Coast Line on the ballot. Directors said the delay will give them time to review the complex plan.

Drizzle wets valley areas

Early morning sprinkles moistened some parts of the valley today, but no one reported any measurable precipitation.

The weatherman called for continued cloudiness today and tonight, but fair skies are predicted for Friday. Day temperatures will range in the upper 60s and the low 70s today and in the upper 70s Friday.

Ford asks $135 million for flu vaccine

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fearing an epidemic of flu deaths next winter, President Ford is asking Congress for $135 million to finance production of enough vaccine to protect 200 million Americans against a new outbreak of swine flu virus.

The President said he wants the supplemental appropriation passed before the lawmakers' April recess so that by the end of November nearly every American citizen can be protected from the virus, which took 20 million lives around the world in a 1918 epidemic.

Ford was to make his request to Congress today.

In Geneva, Switzerland, officials at World Health Organization headquarters reacted with surprise to the President's announcement. The WHO said a month ago there was no evidence the virus was spreading.

The officials declined further comment pending contact with U.S. experts on the American project, which a spokesman said could have "worldwide implications."

The spokesman said he knew of no other country considering similar plans.

The vaccine will be available in September, October and November in schools, hospitals, doctors offices and public health facilities in the largest mass immunization drive in U.S. history, Ford said.

The government will pay for production of the vaccine by private drug companies, but patients will have to pay for the flu shots themselves unless they are covered by government or private insurance.

Ford announced his decision to go ahead with the immunization campaign after a meeting Wednesday with 35 leading scientists, public health officials, drug executives, physicians and politicians.

Deputies' wives 'on the prowl' in police cruisers

Riding with hubbies in unique program to cut down on high rate of divorce among lawmen

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Wives of Spokane County sheriff's deputies are on the prowl. But the husbands know where their mates are. They're seated beside them in patrol cars.

It's what Sheriff William J. Reilly calls "an officer and wife awareness program."

Reilly, noting an alarming increase of divorce among law enforcement officers nationally, adopted the program four months ago to better acquaint wives with the jobs their officer husbands perform each day.

"We've found considerable misunderstanding by law enforcement wives about the jobs their husbands do," said Reilly, adding that similar programs have met with considerable success in other departments.

The sheriff said the wives are allowed to accompany their husbands on patrol once every 90 days. Each wife must sign a waiver absolving the county of any liability during her tour, and a wife must stay in the prowl car if her husband responds to a call of a serious or dangerous nature.

About a dozen of the department's 64 uniformed patrolmen's wives have gone along for an eight-hour tour of prowl car duty so far, and they seem to enjoy it.

"I'm glad I went along. I saw just what a good officer my husband is," said Mrs. Anthony White. "I'm ready to go again when I can."

Mrs. White said she was impressed with how busy the deputies are when on prowl car duty. During her tour, she accompanied her husband on a heart attack call.

... UNIQUE ATTACK ON DIVORCE

Offers relief for elderly, homeowners, those with low income

SACRAMENTO (AP) — There's a new measure before the California Legislature to increase three taxes, and at the same time shift the tax burden away from homeowners, the elderly, and low-income persons.

It was introduced Wednesday by state Sen. Ruben Ayala, D-Chino.

The title of the bill says the increases would be as follows:

—State sales and use tax, up from 4 3/4 per cent to 5 1/4 per cent.

—Personal income tax, up one-half per cent in all income brackets.

—Cigarette tax, up from 10 to 12 cents per pack.

The bill would shift the tax burden as follows:

—The homeowner's property tax exemption would be increased from the first $7,000 to the first $10,000 of full value of his principal residence.

—The amount of credit that qualified home renters may apply against personal income taxes would be increased.

—The Senior Citizens Property Tax Assistance Law would be extended to cover renters and property owners with a total household income of up to $15,000. This would be done on the basis of a percentage of total property taxes or, in the case of renters, a $250 statutory property tax equivalent presumed to be paid.

—The Franchise Tax Board would be required to recompute and adjust income brackets according to an inflation adjustment factor. These brackets would be those of the property owner's assistance schedule and the renter's assistance schedule, for determination of assistance to claimants who are 62 years of age or older.

Under the existing Senior Citizens Property Tax Assistance Law, the state reimburses persons 62 years of age or older for a portion of the taxes on their homes, the bill title said.

This assistance ranges from 96 per cent of the taxes on the first $7,500 of assessed value for households with a total income of up to $1,400, to 4 per cent of the taxes for those with income of up to $10,000.

Bomb threat clears U.S. Embassy in Moscow

MOSCOW (AP) — A bomb warning by an anonymous caller led to evacuation of part of the American Embassy today. No bomb was found.

The warning followed a series of telephone calls to members of the embassy staff threatening them with retaliation and even shooting for harassment of Soviet personnel in New York.

The embassy lodged a formal protest, charging that the moves were part of a campaign encouraged and supported by official Soviet agencies and warning that such acts could further jeopardize American-Soviet relations.

Ties between the two countries are already strained over Soviet involvement in Angola.

There was no explosion, and a search of the building turned up no trace of a bomb, an Embassy spokesman said. He said the caller had described the device as a four-pound block of "C4 (plastic explosive) with detonators."

The spokesman said about 50 persons working on the ground floor of the Embassy were evacuated after the telephone call at noon warned that the bomb would go off at 12:27 p.m. The caller spoke in unaccented English, the spokesman added.

Fourteen children in a nursery school class in the Embassy basement were also led quietly into the courtyard of the 10-story building on Tchaikovsky Street. There was no panic.

MR. AND MRS. R. C. NEWMAN

Indian Hill land owners want city to leave them in dark

Indian Hill Boulevard from American Avenue to First Street can stay dark as far as most property owners along the Claremont street are concerned.

Several spoke Tuesday night against the formation of an assessment district to finance installation of street lights, and the City Council deferred action to give the city staff an opportunity to calculate the total number of protests.

Up until the council meeting, owners of at least 49 per cent of the front footage along the street had written protests. Additional signatures were accepted at the meeting.

Public Works Director Paul Cook reported that he had received only one letter in favor, and that represents one per cent of the total Indian Hill frontage.

If owners of 51 per cent or more of the front footage protest, the project would be doomed for at least one year. Of course, the city could install the lights at taxpayer expense.

Several years ago, the city was able to get Southern California Edison to put its utility lines underground along Indian Hill Boulevard for aesthetic reasons. When the poles were removed, the street lights also were taken out.

Estimated cost of the project is $61,122.

F. J. Erhart, 339 S. Indian Hill Blvd., said that each time the city improves property along the street, "We get further into the hole. The city took my land to widen the street. The assessment district will cost me $855."

Tom Taylor, representing Rodeway Inn, said that the street lights were paid for several years ago, and then removed.

Taylor explained that his firm feels it has enough interior lighting to suffice, and is against the assessment district.

Phil Johnston, representing College Chevrolet, said he is completely opposed to the district, but M. M. Smith representing the Shell service station next to the Rodeway Inn, said he favors the lighting district.

The council decided to hold off on any action until its April 13 council meeting.

In other matters, the council asked the Planning Commission to develop a specific plan for a 90-to 100-foot right-of-way of Mills and Grand avenues to the Thompson Creek channel to allow for equestrian and bike trails.

The council received and filed a recommendation from the Architectural Commission that architectural review be required for all single-family subdivisions.

"What are they looking for — landscaping, colors, and materials?" asked Mayor Bertye Smith.

"All of those," replied Planning Director Don King.

"I don't think I could go for this," Mrs. Smith said. "What would architectural review accomplish?"

Her motion only to receive rather than approve the recommendation passed unanimously.

The council deferred a Traffic Safety Commission recommendation to pave a bicycle path on the east side of Mills Avenue between Base Line Road and Chaparral Drive, but approved the spending of $1,000 for a bicycle path along the west side of Towne Avenue between Briarcroft Road and Hillsdale Street.

Cook said that his alternative to full — street improvements along Towne Avenue at its narrowest points would be the bicycle path.

The commission had recommended that Towne Avenue be widened on the east side between Richmond and Syracuse drives and on the west side between Briarcroft and Hillsdale.

The council set for public hearing April 13 an appeal by Michael Racine of an Architectural Commission decision that he must lower the skylight on roof of the remodeled store building at 131 Yale Ave.

Racine said that the skylight is fulfilling its purpose — to let in light.

"If it is lowered the required distance, it will no longer be as functional," Racine said in his appeal.

BARBARA SHERWOOD

Stalker chose wrong gal —shot twice

LOS ANGELES (AP) — George Kenney, 22, was in critical condition today after he was shot by a female sheriff's deputy he allegedly tried to rape, authorities said.

A spokesman at the County-USC Medical Center jail ward said Kenney underwent surgery late Wednesday. Kenney had been shot twice by Deputy Barbara Sherwood, 29, a six-year department veteran, authorities said.

Officers said Deputy Sherwood shot Kenney when he allegedly assaulted her on a dark street in South Los Angeles just after midnight Wednesday.

They said Kenney, wounded in the shoulder and back, was taken to Gardena Memorial Hospital and then transferred to County-USC Medical Center's jail ward, where he was booked for investigation of attempted rape.

Authorities said Deputy Sherwood was off-duty and wearing civilian clothes when she was assaulted as she made a call from a phone booth.

They said the woman, a member of the county's pistol team and a marksman, drew her .38-caliber revolver and fired twice.

Lawyers will fight for long delays of future Hearst trials

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — One of Patricia Hearst's lawyers says it may be a long time before the newspaper heiress, convicted of bank robbery, stands trial on other charges arising from her underground odyssey.

Al Johnson said Wednesday that he and his partner, F. Lee Bailey, have "a strong conviction that she could not be tried in the foreseeable future anywhere" and will battle for an extensive delay.

Miss Hearst's upcoming legal hurdles include arraignment in Los Angeles on state charges, expected early next week, and an April 12 sentencing date here for her federal bank robbery conviction.

She was to meet again today with federal probation officers who will recommend what punishment — if any — should be imposed. Her sentence could range from probation to 25 years in prison.

Probation officer Harry Schloetter and deputy Charles J. Roberts interviewed her for two hours Tuesday at the San Mateo County Jail. Schloetter has said "wide-ranging examinations" of her will precede their recommendations to U.S. District Court Judge Oliver J. Carter.

Miss Hearst, meanwhile, faces arraignment soon in Los Angeles on charges of kidnaping, robbery and assault.

Johnson said he will argue that a fair trial would be impossible at least until publicity that surrounded her bank robbery trial subsides.

Miss Hearst, 22, was convicted Saturday of willingly joining her Symbionese Liberation Army kidnappers in an April 15, 1974, holdup of a Hibernia Bank branch.

The robbery came two months after Miss Hearst was dragged from her Berkeley apartment by SLA members. She testified that her captors threatened to kill her if she did not accompany them in the robbery.

"I cannot understand how any jury can ever be empaneled in Los Angeles that would not have prior knowledge of her conviction. I would say that applies to the rest of the country as well," Johnson said. He also said again he will seek to sever Miss Hearst's trial from that of her underground companions, William and Emily Harris.

Although she is charged with using gunfire to rescue the Harrises from certain arrest, Miss Hearst repudiated them at her San Francisco trial, saying they kept her a hostage of fear through mental and physical abuse. She identified Harris as one of her kidnapers.

Alluding to the delay he said the defense will seek, Johnson said, "I certainly would expect that we need a great deal of time to prepare for a trial of that complexity." But he dismissed speculation about a guilty plea in exchange for leniency.

"I don't foresee any future consideration of that," he said.

Johnson said the defense in Los Angeles will stress the mental torment Miss Hearst said was caused her by the Harrises and the SLA.

"The defense down there would be more along the lines of coercive persuasion and thought reform rather than physical coercion," Johnson said. "At the present time, the defense has not been formulated in the L.A. case. We've been involved in an eight-week trial and we have not even had time to read the indictment."

Johnson said the defense is also preparing to appeal Miss Hearst's conviction on the claim that permitting evidence of her activities after the bank robbery was an error.

U.S. Senate votes to open state oil site

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Elk Hills petroleum reserve north of Bakersfield would be open to rapid, full-scale production under a compromise bill approved by the Senate.

The bill, approved by voice vote Wednesday, would also open two smaller reserves — in Buena Vista and also at Teapot Dome, Wyo. — for production.

The measure would also step up exploration of the vast Naval reserve in Alaska.

Favorable House action on the bill — expected Friday — would effectively bring the three reserves into production and continue production at the maximum efficient rate for six Maximum production is estimated at about 300,000 barrels a day, primarily from Elk Hills.

California's two senators, Alan Cranston and John V. Tunney, both hailed the Senate action. They said the bill would serve as an "insurance policy" against future energy shortages caused by embargoes.

Chino youth expelled after campus beating

A 17-year-old Chino High School student has been expelled from the district in the wake of the beating Feb. 27 of another student in a campus restroom.

Paul Andrew Villalpando was expelled by the school board Tuesday following a hearing conducted in closed session.

Authorities had reported that 15 to 20 youths were involved in the incident in which the student was dragged into a restroom and beaten. The student suffered an eye laceration as a result.

Two more students were suspended temporarily from school after the incident.

The beating caused an uproar in the school district and prompted an anti-violence resolution by the board at the March 9 meeting. The resolution states that any student found guilty of hazing, intimidating or physically harming another student faces expulsion.

At the start of its meeting Tuesday, the school board did not conduct the Pledge of Allegiance. No one brought the issue up, so there was no pledge, said one official.

The pledge was recited at the last meeting following the urgings of Martin Rehm, a Chino High student. A debate followed between trustees and the audience, and board member Roy Ward left the room under protest of coercion.

Board members so far have left the issue of pledging to the flag at each meeting unresolved. The pledge has not officially been part of the agenda for at least seven years.

Ontarian believed drowned in river

rado River near Blythe, Riverside County sheriff's officers said today. Riverside Sheriff's Sgt. Bill Word-law said that the two victims, Ivan Russell Vogelmann, 28, of 1407 W. Flora St., Ontario, and Oscar Padilla, 22, of Los Angeles were unable to make it to shore Tuesday afternoon after falling off a floating log going down the river.

Two other men on the log, Wayne Miller of Montclair and Tom Kocinas of Alhambra, fell off but were able to swim to the California shoreline and safety.

Wordlaw said that Padilla was seen going under the swirling waters almost immediately after he fell, while Vogelmann went down about 20 yards from the shoreline.

Wordlaw explained that the search for the men in the vicinity where they were last seen was called off Wednesday because of the rough water in the area.

"We almost lost a diver there once," said Wordlaw, explaining that it is particularly hazardous in the area because of some large concrete blocks that fell into the river sometime in the past.

The water rushes around the blocks causing severe whirlpooling and undertow. The river is about 60 feet deep at the point the four men fell from their log.

Chino sues ex-candidate over unpaid election bill

The City of Chino has filed a civil suit against defeated mayoral candidate Nick Medina in an attempt to collect a $206.04 bill for printing his statement of qualifications.

The suit, filed in Chino Municipal Court by Asst. City Clerk Joan Kruse, seeks "recovery of costs of printing" the statement included in the March 2 sample ballot.

Medina announced in late February that he would refuse to pay the bill because the city "bungled" the Spanish language portion of his statement, omitting part of it.

Mrs. Kruse warned then that the city would initiate "legal procedures" against Medina if he did not pay the bill. She noted that candidates were not charged for Spanish translations on the ballot.

The suit represents "what we would normally do to try to recover reasonable, bonafide costs," Mrs. Kruse said. She added that she expects to appear in court on behalf of the city to "present facts and to ask the court to award what he (Medina) owes."

Medina could not be reached for comment.

Lebanon's president flees bombardment

Moslem big guns tear up palace

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — President Suleiman Franjeh fled under Moslem bombardment from the badly damaged presidential palace early today.

A pro-Franjeh radio station called the move a "temporary transfer of the seat of the presidency," however, indicating Franjeh still considered himself president.

The leader of the largest Christian militia broadcast a call for an all-out crusade to return the 65-year-old Christian president to the symbolic seat of power.

But Beirut Radio, controlled by Moslem army commanders, reported the hilltop palace four miles east of Beirut was wrecked.

"The whole place was a shambles," said a photographer who visited the palace. "Chandeliers were all down on the floor, broken to smithereens. The main two salons on the ground floor were black, totally black. Nothing in them was left intact."

Franjeh, who defied two weeks of threats by Moslem military leaders to bomb him out, left before dawn with his wife and two sons in a bulletproof limousine, a palace spokesman reported.

Beirut Radio said the president and his aides took refuge in Jounieh, the major Christian stronghold on the coast 12 miles north of Beirut. Its harbor is guarded by two pro-Christian army garrisons and a naval base, and it is the chief port of entry for arms for the right-wing Christian militias battling the leftist Moslems in the 11-month-old civil war.

"He fled after a barrage of 155mm artillery tore to shreds the presidential palace's two main wings and destroyed its water reservoirs," the broadcast said.

A TV station 700 yards from the palace received 35 direct mortar hits, a member of the staff reported.

Meanwhile, the Moslems and Christians hammered at each other with mortar and artillery fire and fought close-contact battles. Police said at least 126 persons were killed and about 200 wounded in Beirut and the summer resorts in the hills east of the city.

This incomplete toll raised to 814 the total reported killed since the last cease-fire ended March 11, when the Moslem commander of the Beirut garrison proclaimed himself provisional military governor of Lebanon and demanded Franjeh's resignation.

Fires spread from shop to shop in the city's shuttered, deserted commercial center as the street battles raged without letup there and in the hotel district. Syrian fire engines sent from Damascus were unable to reach the city because of fighting along the roads.

As news of Franjeh's flight from the palace spread, another Christian leader, Pierre Gemayel of the right-wing Phalange party, broadcast an appeal to "every Lebanese, every Christian man, woman and soldier to join me at once in a last-ditch heroic battle to defend and save Lebanon."

"Don't waste a single minute. Wherever you are, drop everything you are doing and join me at once in party strongholds, army garrisons and bases to save our nation's honor."

BEIRUT IS BURNING

Black smoke rises from the fires of Beirut's Port district Wednesday during heavy fighting.

Firemen were hampered in fighting the blazes by sniper fire. Two died in cave-ins.

This little pig stayed home—it caught the flu

WASHINGTON (AP) — No one seems sure, but Agriculture Department scientists say that pigs can probably catch the flu from humans as well as pass it on to them if everyone concerned is not careful.

Swine — that means hogs and pigs — have recently come in for notoriety with the identification of a deadly "swine flu strain" of virus, and the government announced plans Wednesday to vaccinate Americans against the disease.

Dr. J. M. Hejl, deputy administrator of USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service, said that pigs catch colds and flu the same as humans and that those ailments probably can be passed back and forth between people and pigs.

"I don't know, but if I can believe what I read, I think they are saying that people can be affected by a flu virus from swine," Hejl told a reporter. "If it goes one way (from hogs to people), I would think it could go the other way (from people to hogs), too."

Hejl, a veterinarian with a background in biologics (including vaccine), said that flu viruses in nature change so rapidly that it has been virtually impossible to develop an effective swine flu vaccine for swine. Swine flu vaccine for humans can be developed, however.

Further, he said it might be wrong to blame pigs for infecting humans with flu. "It would just as well have been the other way," Hejl said. "Swine could have picked it up from people."

Pigs can get "the equivalent of a head cold" as well as the flu, Hejl said.

S. Africa pulling out of Angola

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — South Africa will withdraw all its military forces in southern Angola by Saturday following assurances from the Angolan government that South Africa's border interests will be protected, Defense Minister P. W. Botha announced today.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, whose government is supplying arms and advice to the Angolan government, said in London today that the Soviet Union and Britain were working on a settlement relating to Angola and its white-ruled neighbors.

The withdrawal of an estimated 5,000 troops from southern Angola is expected to defuse a potentially explosive situation along the Angolan border.

Spotlight on area crime

Burglars again hit Wright Bros. & Rice

Apparently the same burglars who stole more than $4,000 in television sets earlier this month at Wright Bros. & Rice furniture store in Pomona returned and carried off five more sets, police reported.

The latest break-in was discovered Wednesday. This time the burglars took Zenith color sets valued at $2,209.

The burglars used the store's carts to carry the sets from the display area to doors opening onto an alley. There they loaded them into a truck. The carts were found abandoned in the alley.

Jailed in bomb threat

A 20-year-old Ontario man was booked in the West End Jail this morning in connection with a bomb threat called into the JLI Apartments Wednesday morning at 1449 E. D Street in ONTARIO.

Robert Alton Lawer, a resident at the apartments, was taken into custody by police officers about 1:30 a.m. after a man called the apartment manager about 1:15 a.m. to say that a bomb would go off at 1:30 a.m.

Police at the apartments said they found a man who claimed he was with Lawer when he made the telephone call. Lawer is charged with making a false bomb report and in jail in lieu of $1,500 bail.

Police said they have not determined the motive for the call.

4 jailed in burglaries

Four ROWLAND HEIGHTS boys, three of them brothers, were turned over to Probation Department officers Wednesday after sheriff's deputies arrested them and recovered more than $3,500 in burglary loot.

The brothers, 12, 13 and 15, were arrested Tuesday morning by deputies who caught them with 50 pairs of shoes from the burglarized Van's Tennis Shoes Store at 10963 Colima Road in Rowland Heights. Their arrest led to the fourth youth, 15, and the recovery of tape decks and stereo equipment stolen recently from 12 local businesses and automobiles.

The probation officers will handle any prosecution and confinement of the youths.

Alert residents

Two alert UPLAND residents aided police in the arrest of two suspected burglars who broke into a home at 1194 Loma Sol St. Wednesday afternoon.

Two juveniles, both of Upland, this morning were turned over to juvenile authorities for disposition on burglary charges as a result of the investigation.

Police received a call from a woman resident about 1:17 p.m. Wednesday who reported that two youths were attempting to sell a newspaper subscription to her. She said she became suspicious because of the time of day when most youths are in school.

About 12 minutes later another resident called police to report hearing noises from the house next door. The woman caller said that her next door neighbors were supposed to be on vacation.

Police checked the home at 1194 Loma Sol St., and found it had been entered by burglars. The youths were arrested.

Man threatened

An UPLAND man was threatened and robbed of a small amount of cash by four men in the area of 125 S. Mountain Ave. This morning police reported.

Ron Livingwood of 72 E. Eighth St. walked into the West End sheriff's substation about 1:55 a.m. to report the incident. Upland police were called into the investigation.

Livingwood said the robbers were whites. Three of them were 20 to 25 years of age while the fourth was about 30. He said the men left the area in a green, older model, station wagon.

Purse snatched

An UPLAND woman complained to police that two men grabbed her purse containing a small amount of cash and her house keys Wednesday night in front of the Coronet Store at 135 E. Foothill Blvd.

Mrs. Ruth Prasio of 1474 E. Seventh St. said the shoulder purse had a pink flower design. She said both men were about 18 and white. One was 5 feet 10, with light brown hair and beige jacket. The other was 6 feet 1, with a tan jacket and blue pants. He had blond hair.

Nab hospital thief

In POMONA, a Los Angeles man was caught trying to drive away from Pomona Valley Community Hospital Wednesday with sheets and pillowcases stolen from the x-ray department Wednesday, police reported.

A hospital guard said he saw the man, later identified as Leonard Hale, 40, go out a side door carrying an armload of the linens. He ran to a car parked nearby, tossed the items inside, got in himself and started to drive off when the guard stopped him. Hale later was turned over to Pomona police who booked him on suspicion of burglary.

The guard said that while he was holding Hale for police, he saw a second man flee through office buildings across the street.

Two brothers arrested

Two brothers were booked in West End jail this morning in connection with the March 11 armed robbery of a Circle K Store at 1505 N. Baker St. in ONTARIO, police reported.

Larry Vernon White, 27, of 523 Beryl Ave., Ontario, and his brother, Gary Dean White, 26, of 10399 Pradera St., Montclair were booked on the charges and placed in jail in lieu of $10,000 bail each.

Police said they went to the suspects' homes Wednesday following a week-long investigation into the robbery.

Boy faces sentencing despite cloud over death

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 12-year-old boy faces sentencing for first-degree murder in the street mugging of an elderly socialite despite his attorney's protest that the injured victim died after doctors turned off machines maintaining her vital signs.

The youth, whose name was not revealed because of his age, could be sentenced to two years in a juvenile detention facility.

He was convicted Wednesday in the death of Gladys H. Werlich, 87, a Washington social figure in the 1920s and 1930s. She suffered a skull fracture Jan. 13 when she was knocked to the sidewalk near her home by four youths who were trying to grab her pocketbook.

Robert W. Michels, attorney for the 12-year-old boy, argued the youth should not have been charged with murder because Mrs. Werlich died after her doctors "pulled the plug" on machines maintaining her vital signs. He said he planned an appeal.

Michels said the situation was similar to the case of Karen Quinlan, a young New Jersey woman who has been in a coma for 11 months. Her parents sought without success a court order to turn off machines keeping her alive.

Ventilation devices removed just before deadly mine blast

WASHINGTON (AP) — The night before a gas explosion at the Scotia Coal Co. mine in Eastern Kentucky killed 15 miners, ventilation devices needed to maintain a fresh air were evidently removed, congressional investigators said today.

Roy Wade, chief investigator for the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee, said this could have been a factor in the explosion, the first of two at the mine earlier this month in which a total of 26 men were killed.

The second explosion, two days after the first blast on March 9, claimed the lives of eight Scotia miners and three federal safety inspectors who were in the mine to repair and inspect damage from the first explosion.

Wade said he and another Senate investigator, Mike Goldberg, interviewed men at the mine, including two who had worked the shift the night before the first explosion. Both miners alleged that air ventilation

"curtains" had been moved, Wade said.

He said the miners declined to testify in person, or be identified, for fear of company reprisals.

Wade said the miners claimed that these air ventilation curtains were frequently used to quickly divert air from one part of the mine to another when it was learned that a federal inspector was about to make an air check.

Such a check was made on March 8, the night before the first explosion. Federal mine safety officials testified on Wednesday that this check uncovered an air ventilation problem, but that it was rectified while the inspector was on the site.

Sr. citizen hobby show

The Chino Senior Citizen Club will sponsor its second annual Hobby Show Friday at 9 a.m. in the Community Building.

Purpose of the show is for seniors to be able to share their hobbies and collections with others. Anyone over 50 is invited to participate.

A business meeting also will be held Friday followed by a catered luncheon of corned beef and cabbage. Further information is available by calling 627-7344.

A NIGHT OUT

Queen Elizabeth, the Queen Mother, swathed in furs and wearing a glittering gown, arrives at London's Odeon Theater Wednesday night to grace the Royal Film performance of "The Slipper and Rose," a Cinderella story.

More Democratic ballots cast

GOP could be in trouble

WASHINGTON (AP) — Popular vote totals in the nation's first six primary elections hold an ominous message for Republicans: more than two-thirds of the 5.96 million votes cast were on Democratic ballots.

And although President Ford has been the choice of 55.6 per cent of Republicans voting in these primaries, his popular vote total of 1.06 million is less than the 1.53 million polled by Jimmy Carter, who is one of a stable of Democratic candidates who at one time numbered as many as 12.

Carter was the favorite of 37.9 per cent of Democrats voting so far.

The popular vote totals may come in for study by party strategists since they may indicate that more people are voting as Democrats than generally tell pollsters they consider themselves to be Democrats.

In the primaries so far, about 68 per cent of the voters have marked Democratic ballots, although the Gallup Poll showed last fall that on a nationwide basis only 44 per cent of the American voters considered themselves to be members of the Democratic party.

That poll last September also showed only 21 per cent thought of themselves as Republicans, the GOP's lowest point since the Depression. The other 35 per cent told Gallup they were independents.

Some primaries in the past have been prone to crossover voting where a member of one party votes on the other party's ballot. But there has been little reason this year to suspect crossover voting because every primary has been contested except the GOP balloting in tiny Vermont and because Democratic party rules now do their best to bar Republicans from getting Democratic ballots.

States voting so far are New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Vermont, Florida, Illinois and North Carolina. All except Massachusetts went for Republican Richard Nixon in the 1972 presidential election.

But in this year's primaries, more Democratic votes were cast in all those states except New Hampshire.

Of course considerations will be far different in November than in primary balloting. For example, a voter who favored a conservative Democrat in a primary might vote for a Republican in November.

CAMPAINING FOR HAYDEN — Actress Jane Fonda, the wife of Tom Hayden, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for U.S. Senate calls her husband's opponent, Democratic incumbent John Tunney a playboy and a coward and afraid to debate Hayden on the issues.

Tunney a playboy—Jane Fonda

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Actress Jane Fonda says U.S. Sen. John Tunney is a playboy who dates teen-agers and a coward whose lifestyle is not serious enough for a senator.

She also said Wednesday that Tunney is lazy and is absent frequently from the Senate for long vacations.

She said he was a coward for refusing to debate her husband, former antiwar activist Tom Hayden, who is challenging Tunney in the June 8 Democratic primary.

Hayden would be a better senator because he is more serious-minded and ready to debate "fundamental questions," she said.

Tunney said through an aide, John Flink, "The charges are silly."

Flink added that Tunney has "an 88 per cent attendance record, which is better than a majority of members of the Senate."

Miss Fonda, asked in a news conference to substantiate the statement that Tunney dates teen-age girls, said: "Maybe they're not teen-agers. I don't know their ages."

Miss Fonda raised the issue of the dating habits of Tunney, who is divorced, in response to question about her charge he is a "playboy senator."

"The first time I ever even knew who John Tunney was, was I heard he was dating teen-agers," she said.

She said that information "is in the files," and she referred to unspecified news stories and accounts of former members of Tunney's staff, whom she declined to name.

"We don't intend to carry on a mudslinging campaign. But I stand by the statement he is a playboy senator," she said.

Claremont Y leader is chosen

Joe Zakem, 28, former Chino High great in football, basketball and baseball, has been appointed executive director of the Claremont YMCA.

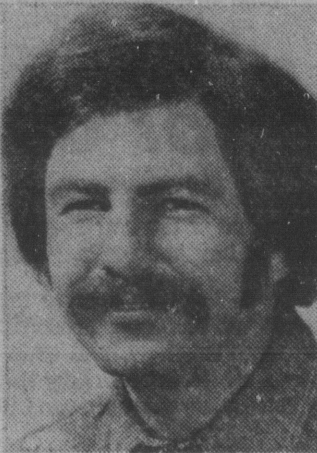

He replaces Len Svoboda, who went to the Encinitas YMCA.

A 1966 graduate of Chino High, Zakem received B.S. and M.S. degrees in physical education at Cal Poly Pomona.

From 1972-75, Zakem served as football, basketball and baseball coach at Webb School and taught psychology.

Zakem has taken the Y post because "I like having a position where you are ultimately responsible for success or failure."

The Claremont Y is in the last week of its sustaining membership drive with a goal of $16,000.

Zakem said that the 5-year goal of the Claremont Y is to have its own building, housing a gymnasium and a swimming pool.

The Y sponsors day camp and swimming programs in the summer, and the Y-Pals for fatherless boys throughout the year.

In cooperation with the Claremont Police Officers Association it has sponsored also a moto-cross competition on Saturdays.

Students to make stop here

Japanese visitors need homes

The Claremont High Branch of the Foreign Study League is seeking families in the local area who will host 35 young Japanese students while they are visiting the area July 28 through Aug. 25.

Host families are asked to provide room and board to help arrange transportation to and from classes four mornings a week at Claremont High. The students range in age from 12 through 15.

Hosts may choose the age and sex of their guest to aid in making room arrangements. Private rooms will not be required.

People unable to host a student may sponsor an activity or include a Japanese student in a family outing. No knowledge of Japanese is required.

The Japanese students are being sponsored by the Foreign Study League, an educational service of the Reader's Digest.

Scouts get unexpected job: fire fighting

Members of Boy Scout Troop 326 of Montclair, sponsored by the Montclair Kiwanis Club, had a recent camping weekend turned into a fire fighting chore at Camp Evans in Riverside County.

The boys had planned to pass merit badge requirements on cooking, camping and pioneering. But after being alerted to a brush fire by horseback riders, they displayed their fire-fighting skills by containing the fire until the Riverside Fire Department arrived.

Boys who participated in the activity were Martin and Michael Alcon, William Baird, Jon Decoteau, James Dickson, Gary Dufour, Rick Dunn, Frank Lobo, John Sario, Steve Simpson, David and Joe Skoronski, Mark Smith, James Soper, Chuck Gasow, Wesley Fasthorse and Chris Cagg.

This marks the third year that a Foreign Study League group will come to this area.

Host families for the program have been enthusiastic in their praise for the league and especially their "summer" son or daughter.

Boys' Club to mark 8th year

The Pomona Boys' Club will observe its eighth birthday next month with a weeklong celebration.

Paul M. Mahoney, president of the club, said the observance will run from April 3 to 11 and will spotlight the club's program of "fighting juvenile delinquency and promoting juvenile decency."

He said the observance is designed to show that "the same energies which can get a kid into trouble on the street can be a force for good and lead to productive responsible pursuits."

The observances start at 10 a.m. April 3 with a magic show by Archie Johnson a Pomona police detective, and with entertainment by the Pomona Jaycee clown "Uncle Bruce."

Events also will include a skate board rodeo and an awards banquet as well as open house. The banquet will honor outstanding players on the club's athletic teams. It is set for 7 p.m. April 8 at Sir George's Smorgasborg.

Scout's poster a winner

Eagle Scout Mike Riley, 17, a junior assistant scoutmaster of Boy Scout Troop 413 in La Verne, is the winner of a poster contest sponsored by Old Baldy Scout Council and the council's Women's Service Board.

His troop is sponsored by the La Verne Heights Presbyterian Church.

Riley was awarded the sweepstakes prize for creating the most outstanding poster describing the rummage sale sponsored by the council and the Women's Service Board.

The rummage sale will be held Saturday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Boy Scout Council Service Center at 120 W. San Jose Ave., Claremont. Anyone wishing to donate rummage may bring it to the center between 9 a.m. and 5:30 p.m.

Scout executive Ron Brundage invited public support of the sale.

Riley, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Norton Riley of La Verne, is a junior at Bonita High School.

needles, foxglove leaves and stinkweed, he said.

If animals show signs of having eaten a poisonous substance, Richards noted, they should be taken to a veterinarian at once. Common symptoms are retching, trembling, and sometimes convulsions.

Chemical dangers to pets cited

Bruce Richards, director of the Humane Society of Pomona Valley, has issued a warning to pet owners about the use of fertilizers, insecticides and other gardening compounds frequently used in spring.

"One of the most deadly insecticides to animals is snail bait," said Richards. "In the past two weeks local veterinarians have treated 26 animals for eating poisonous materials," he said.

Richards said that pet owners should be careful in using fertilizers and insecticides by keeping their animals away from these substances.

Pet owners should also beware of poisonous plants such as poinsettia leaves, oleanders, mistletoe berries, philodendrons, pine

Market prices up

Taxes heading up for dairymen

Because of sharply increased market prices of dairy cattle over 1975, dairymen in San Bernardino County will be paying more taxes on their herds this year.

County Assessor Robert Herbin said prices found in the market will range from $20 for day-old calves to $600 for springers.

The typical dairy herd, include milking and dry cows and those ready for the beef market, will average $480 per head as compared to $350 last year.

"This means that an additional $4 million of assessed values will be added to the rolls in Chino, solely by the dairy industry. This doesn't include the increase from re-evaluation of the dairy properties nor the increase in the price of hay and feeds," said Herbin.

Due to the 1975 decline in the market value of cows, values were dropped, resulting in lower assessed values for some of the Chino area taxing districts. The 1976 prices, while not reaching the all-time high in 1974, compare with the market found in the 1973 survey, he noted.

For 1976, it is estimated that dairy cattle alone will contribute over $1.6 million in property taxes to the county and local taxing districts.

John Shoemaker

Sister city unit installs officers

John B. Shoemaker, community relations coordinator for the City of Upland, is the newly installed president of the Upland Sister City Association. He succeeds Ian Richardson, who served two terms.

Other officers are Frank Smiderle, vice president; Sarah Richardson, recording secretary; Linda Prouty, corresponding secretary; Margaret Kritzman, treasurer; and Althea Correll, parliamentarian.

New directors are Richardson, Bea Anderson and Frank Carpenter. Directors remaining in office are John McCarthy, Dorothy Fletcher and Zella H. Stone.

Shoemaker is hoping to increase memberships of individuals, organizations and particularly students, whom he believes may benefit most from the sister city cultural exchange.

Fund raising activities in the coming year will be stressed to increase the association's effectiveness and communications with Upland's two sister cities, H. Caborca, Sonora, Mexico, and Mildura, Australia.

Anyone interested in joining the organizations or who would like more information regarding its activities should contact Margaret Kritzman, 982-1708.

N.Y. poverty

New York City, with 3 per cent of the nation's population, contains roughly 10 per cent of the country's government-supported unemployables — the largest poverty concentration in the United States, according to a Conference Board study.

Woodpecker study may lead to safer helmets

LONDON (AP) — Scientific curiosity over why woodpeckers don't get headaches could lead to safer helmets for soldiers, football players and race drivers.

Four American researchers, writing in the British medical magazine The Lancet, note that woodpeckers bash their beaks into trees all day to find food, make nests, attract the opposite sex, communicate with each other and relieve pent-up tensions.

One wonders, they continue, "why the countryside is not littered with dazed and dying woodpeckers."

So the researchers — Philip May, Paul Newman, Joaquin Fuster and Ada Hirschman of the University of California in Los Angeles and the Veterans Administration hospital in the same city — studied woodpecker skulls to find out.

They found dense, spongy bone, tightly packing a narrow brain with relatively little shock-transmitting fluid, encircled by shock-absorbing muscles.

They concluded that instead of helmets consisting of hard shells separated from the head by air spaces in various ways "it might be fruitful to explore the use of a lighter, thicker, form-fitting, firm but spongy helmet with a relatively thin and hard outer shell to protect against abrasion."

Record gas consumption for January

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Californians used 847 million gallons of gasoline in January, an all-time record for the month, state officials say.

In a report Thursday, the State Board of Equalization said the January figure was 4.7 per cent greater than January 1975. It was a whopping 11.7 per cent increase over January 1974, when the energy crisis reached its peak.

The 7-cent-a-gallon tax on refiners' importers and wholesalers brought the state $59.3 million in January, the board said.

Web of doubt envelops refugee sponsor

By ED PRATHER
PB Staff Writer

The probe into Gerald Martin's scandal-ridden sponsorship of 200 Vietnamese refugees in Pomona will apparently widen to federal and state investigations in coming weeks, based on the recommendations of the Los Angeles County Grand Jury.

In a letter to Pomona Mayor Ray Lepire, the grand jury noted that its investigation over a two-month period indicated probable violations of the contracts between Martin and the Vietnamese.

The grand jury investigation was requested by the Pomona City Council last November when Martin was stripped of his sponsorship after two months of controversy over his handling of more than $100,000 in federal funds intended to aid the refugees.

"The grand jury is sending copies of its investigation to federal, state and county authorities in Kern and San Diego counties," said Lepire.

Lepire said that the grand jury has determined that violations of the refugee contracts are under the jurisdiction of San Diego and Kern counties officials since the contracts were signed at the Camp Pendleton Marine Base and at California City.

Based upon those contracts, the nonprofit Tolstoy Foundation paid out more than $165,000 in federal refugee funds, with over $100,000 going to Martin and over $50,000 going to the California City Chamber of Commerce, which collaborated with Martin in the initial stages of the sponsorship.

No accounting for the funds has ever been provided by Martin or the California City Chamber of Commerce, although it is thought that Martin spent about $45,000 to set up a Garden Grove gardening company to employ the refugees at minimum wages.

An attempt to audit the company's books ended in futility when the accountant, hired by Tolstoy in December, found the company's records in "confusion and disarray."

While it may be months before the results of an expanded investigation are known, legal problems are already threatening to engulf Martin in Orange County.

On April 1 Martin is scheduled to go on trial in West Orange County Municipal Court on 11 misdemeanor charges of passing bad checks totaling over $10,000.

If convicted, Martin could receive a $500 fine or six months in jail per count.

He had pleaded innocent to the charges.

In addition, Martin faces a probable $100,000 civil suit by Tolstoy seeking return of the federal funds he received.

Los Angeles attorney Stephen Swanson, representing Tolstoy, said today a decision on whether to sue Martin, and the California City Chamber of Commerce, will be made in the next few weeks by Tolstoy officials in New York.

The case will probably be heard in Orange County if the suit is filed, said Swanson.

On top of everything else, it is understood that Martin may also be in line for some tough questioning by the Internal Revenue Service.

As far back as last October, when charges of profiteering first began to be heard against Martin's sponsorship, it was learned that the expenditure of all refugee funds would ultimately be subject to an IRS check.

At that time Martin stated complete recordings were being kept on all expenditures, and that there was nothing illegal about his use of the fund.

As was discovered by Tolstoy's audit of the Golden State Gardening Co. books, Martin's records have turned out to be almost useless, and the IRS may be as interested in discovering whether the company met its own tax obligations as well as whether the use of refugee funds to establish the company was legal.

Ontarian dies in minor crash

A 68-year-old Ontario man died of an apparent heart attack shortly after his car crashed into the rear end of a parked car on Laurel Avenue near Sunkist Street in Ontario Wednesday night.

Leroy Berry, 68, of 558 E. Sunkist St., Ontario, was pronounced dead at 9:36 p.m. Wednesday at Ontario Community Hospital. Police found Mr. Berry slumped over the wheel of his car after the accident at 9:23 p.m. Police said Mr. Berry had no signs of external injury.

Damage to the parked car was minor, police said.

Miller murder trial continues

The murder trial of Steven Miller, accused of killing an Ontario police officer and the death of a Red Bluff man, was slated to resume today in West Valley Superior Court after a one day recess.

Thursday, a motion to dismiss the murder charge filed in connection with the shooting death of Edwin Huntsman of Red Bluff against Miller was denied by Judge Richard Garner following a hearing. The rest of the day was spent with Deputy Dist. Atty. Louis Glazier and Miller's defense attorney, Michael Welch, discussing instructions to be given to the jury at the conclusion of the trial with Judge Garner in chambers.

The prosecution, following the introduction of a video-taped reenactment of incidents Oct. 14 and Oct. 15 that left Huntsman and Ontario Police Officer Richard Hyché dead of gunshot wounds, Tuesday rested its case. The defense is to be presented by Welch today.

Miller had pleaded not guilty and not guilty by reason of insanity to the two counts of murder.

The Montclair Chamber of Commerce is conducting a contest for amateur photographers in the valley through April 9.

Photographs must be taken within the city limits of Montclair. The pictures will become the property of the chamber and will be used in promotional material for the city. The first prize is $100. Honorable mentions will also be awarded.

Judges will evaluate the photos on the basis of content and photographic skill. All winners will be notified by April 15.

Entry blanks and contest rules are available at the chamber office.

Pomonan injures his head in fall

A Pomona man suffered a fractured skull Wednesday when he fell from a truck in Chino.

Martin Martinez, 45, of 1302 S. Hansen Ave. was admitted to Pomona Valley Community Hospital where his condition is listed as good.

Martinez, a passenger in the truck, had walked toward the rear of the vehicle on the running board and pushed a packer throttle lever which caused the engine to "rev up" and the truck moved forward, said highway patrolmen.

This caused Martinez to fall from the vehicle. He was treated at Chino General Hospital before being transferred to the Pomona hospital.

Walnut citizens' profile: Newcomers, educated, affluent, in pursuit of small-town living

By PEGGY GONZALES
PB Staff Writer

A sketch of a typical Walnut resident as well-educated and prosperous emerges from the adding machines of city employees who presented census survey data to the City Council Wednesday night.

Although the survey is so new it hasn't been analyzed, a quick count shows that between 1,200 and 1,300 families answered most questions put to them.

Surveyors turned up 1,095 Caucasians including 94 Spanish surname people, plus 30 Orientals, 21 blacks and 91 who declined to state their ethnic background.

Most annual family incomes ranged from $15,000 to $24,999. In this category were 631 families. The next highest number, 334, had annual family earnings of $25,000 and more. Only five had less than $2,000.

Most people surveyed had some college education. There were 196 master's degrees and 21 doctorates of philosophy reported.

Most were comparatively new residents, having moved into Walnut between 1970 and 1974, but they are not eager for added company. Most favor a population of 10,000 or less. Current population estimates range from 7,000 to 8,000.

Most own their own homes, in good condition, and most of the homes have four bedrooms. Single family residences prevail.

Most are professional people. Of those with children under 18, the greatest number of children are attending elementary schools and the next largest, high school.

Of proposed community facilities, a library is the most popular although a new city hall, sheriff's substation, post office and community center, in that order, also are welcomed possibilities.

Most citizens would like to have a shopping center in Walnut. The shopping center topped by far a long list of Walnut improvements and community issues among which residents were asked to state preferences. A shopping center was favored by 270.

Members of the Chino Valley Historical Society model early California costumes in preparation of a historical program Sunday at the Yorba-Slaughter Adobe near Chino. The adobe, built in 1852, will be visited as part of San Bernardino County's "Trek of the Centuries" which commemorates Father Francisco Garces' journey through the county in 1776. The society members are, from left, Reinhard Karlson; Dr. Emery Zimmerman, president; Mrs. Zimmerman; Genevieve Karlson; Mrs. Cleone Litel; and Mrs. Alicia Cortez. Some 250 persons are expected.

Route of first missionary traced Historic fete focuses on Chino adobe

Persons following the historical trek of Father Francisco Garces across San Bernardino County 200 years ago will visit the Yorba-Slaughter Adobe near Chino on Sunday.

The commemorative program, lasting from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., will feature a "bring your own picnic," a short program by county Supervisor Robert Townsend, and guided tours of the early California home by members of the Chino Valley Historical Society.

During March, officials of San Bernardino County's Bicentennial Committee have joined area residents each weekend in programs to commemorate the route followed by Father Garces as he walked from the Colorado River near Needles to the San Gabriel Mission.

The Roman Catholic priest is believed to be the first European to visit San Bernardino County, said Gerald Smith, the county museum's director. The 200-mile journey took him about a month to complete.

Guided by Mojave Indians, he left the Needles area on Feb. 28, 1776, and arrived in San Gabriel in early April. The old Mojave trail he followed was later used by fur trappers and was still later the route for Highway 66 which linked California with Eastern states.

The "Bicentennial Trek" began Feb. 28 with historical activities at Needles and will conclude April 3 at the Chaffey Communities Cultural Center in Upland where the Catholic priest is believed to have left San Bernardino County.

The historical program Sunday will focus on the Yorba-Slaughter Adobe which was built in 1852, some 126 years after Father Garces passed through the area.

The adobe has become a museum and is operated as a branch unit of the San Bernardino County Museum. Gerald Litel, former superintendent of the Chino School District, is the curator.

Raimundo Yorba, builder of the adobe, was also the first resident. The site was considered a part of land acquired by his father in a land grant.

The original home consisted of a living room, parlor and five bedrooms. But after the home was purchased in 1868 by Fenton Mercer Slaughter, it was expanded to 14 rooms by enclosing porch space on the south and west sides, said officials.

Slaughter later built a winery which has been restored and is now used to exhibit old farm machinery, wagons, buggies and harness.

Also at the adobe is an old country store and postoffice building once located in the town of Rincon. This is used to exhibit smaller items such as saddles, hand tools, branding irons and traps.

The house contains a "grand piano," an original long, homebuilt table used by the Slaughter family, old style chairs, antique dishes, stoves and dresses used 100 years ago. Hanging outside is a 150-gallon cauldron in which tallow was rendered.

The Chino museum is located at 17127 Pomona Rincon Road. To reach it, persons may go south on Euclid Avenue to the Pomona Rincon Road and travel west to the site.

Tax challengers try and try

Despite repeated rebuffs by the courts, every so often someone mounts a new challenge against the alleged unconstitutionality or illegality or just plain injustice of the federal income tax.

Some of the attempts deserve high marks for originality if not success, according to Commerce Clearing House, an organization which reports on developments in tax and business law.

A classic example was the case in which a taxpayer asserted that the income tax amendment, the Sixteenth Amendment, was unconstitutional because it placed taxpayers in a position of involuntary servitude, contrary to provisions of the Thirteenth Amendment.

Violation of Fifth Amendment rights is another frequent argument, although as early as 1927 the Supreme Court held that filing an income tax return did not violate one's right against self-incrimination.

Then there are the taxpayers who refuse to file a return because they disagree with U.S. foreign or domestic policies. The Vietnam war produced a flurry of such cases.

Some arguments centered on the claim that U.S. military activities in foreign countries constituted war crimes. Other taxpayers have objected that because part of their tax dollars go for armaments, this violates their freedom of religion.

Still others have opposed federal taxation on the ground that it is discriminatory. In one case, for example, a taxpayer asked that a special exemption be granted to members of the black race.

If death and taxes are certain, so is the likelihood that the income tax will continue to be challenged, says Commerce Clearing House, even though the courts have made their position clear.

A question of art

The trouble with modern art has always been that there is no standard by which the ordinary, untutored person can judge what is art and what isn't. For that, we have to rely on the experts and critics.

Even so, a lot of people have the sneaking suspicion that much of what passes for art these days is more on the order of the emperor's new clothes — the suspicion, that is, that somebody is conning somebody.

New York's Museum of Modern Art, for example, has just acquired a huge "cutout" work by French master Henri Matisse. Measuring 54 feet by 7 and a half feet, "The Swimming Pool" is a collage of abstract, pasted-on figures of women diving or swimming or floating or something. The work is said to be "a superb example" of the artist's later paper cutout period.

The price — a reported $1 million.

At that, the New York museum seems to have gotten more for its money than London's Tate Gallery, which paid $12,000 for a "sculpture" consisting of 120 bricks arranged in a neat, two-layered 6-by-10-foot rectangle on the floor. It was part of an exhibition called "The Art of the Real." The question that occurred to many viewers was, real what? Much more appealing to our lowbrow tastes, if only for its honesty, is a current exhibition at the Cooper School of Art in Cleveland featuring "useless wooden objects" by 80-year-old wood-carver Arthur Frawley. Billed as "a whimsical re-evaluation of form and function," the exhibition is dedicated to one of the most useless wooden objects in history, Howard Hughes' multimillion-dollar plywood airplane, "The Spruce Goose."

On display, among other everyday objects, is a completely nonfunctional but lifelike wooden jackknife. The objects don't work, but they're fun to look at.

They may even be art.

Education at crossroads

Dear Editor:

Public education stands in crisis at the crossroads of America this bi-centennial year. The proclamation of liberty, so nobly rung from this nation's most honored shrine, stands in contrast to the "sounding brass and tinkling cymbal" rung from school bells today.

California's educational system has at last fallen prey to collective bargaining, largely through the efforts of the California Teachers Association, and its local chapters. San Francisco schools, tottering on the brink of strike or walkout only serves to illustrate the toll of crisis and confusion the collective bargaining law will bring. Within school walls, many Christ-honoring, God-fearing teachers are now being given intolerable choices of bowing before an image of gold, or be cast into the midst of fire, paralleling the experience of the three ancient Hebrew children who wouldn't bend, bow, or budge.

As a Christian I am enjoined to pray for the powers that be, to be content with my wages, and content with such things as I have. My Christian conscience is challenged, when I am invited to join the Claremont Faculty Association, and in turn the California Teacher's Association and the National Education Association against my free will. I simply cannot join an organization that supports walkouts, strikes, and places our board in a position of binding arbitration.

I have found through the many years of my teaching in public education that my board of education and community have been more than fair toward the teaching profession. As a teacher, and public service employee, I believe legislation in establishment of law has invaded my challenge to be free in the public sector of education. Public education in California, through the enactment of this law, might well leave its schools in shambles, as students leave its halls by the droves for private schools.

In my opinion, public education in California, through the enactment of this law, has lost its constitutional ordained liberty that Abraham Lincoln said should be written in every grammar, practiced in every court of law, and proclaimed from every pulpit of the land.

Since litigation in the test of this law is pending in the states of Hawaii, Michigan, Minnesota, and Wisconsin, it may remain for the crucible of California to bring it to the highest court of the land, the Supreme Court of the United States, to test its constitutionality. — Charles Noffsinger, Claremont

Flying at taxpayer expense

WASHINGTON — Officially, the unit is called the 89th Military Airlift Wing. But under this prosaic banner operates the world's most exclusive airline, a fleet of 23 plush aircraft, serving Washington's official elite.

The passengers consist solely of government bigwigs and military much-a-mucks, ranging from Secretary of State Henry Kissinger to Army Chief of Staff Gen. Frederick C. Weyand.

The passenger list also cuts across ideological lines, with free rides available to conservatives and liberals alike from Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., to Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D.

The planes, valued at $66 million apiece, are no ordinary airliners. They are specially outfitted to pamper busy government executives. They contain such creature comforts as wall-to-wall carpeting, desks for working officials, bars for drinking officials, sofas suitable for taking short naps and extra powder rooms.

The fancy planes are available 24 hours a day to fly the high and mighty anywhere in the world from a sightseeing junket in Timbuktu to a football game at West Point. This VIP service costs the taxpayers roughly $6 million a year.

The planes even provide military stewards to cater to the wants of the distinguished passengers. The stewards are carried on the military rosters as "Air Passenger Specialists" supposedly on duty to ensure "passenger safety." But in practice, they spend their time serving food and drink to the pampered poobahs.

We have obtained the private Air Force logs listing the VIP flights for 1975. The documents reveal that the planes were at the disposal of powerful members of Congress. We contacted most of the passengers from the Capitol Hill travel club. They insisted that they traveled strictly on government business, albeit in deluxe style.

But some clearly did not. Senate Armed Services Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., flew from Washington to Meridian, Miss., at least a dozen times last year. It is unlikely that he went to visit the Meridian Naval Air Base. His home happens to be less than 30 miles from the landing field.

Indeed, our sources say the crusty old Stennis owes his fine attendance record, in part, to the Pentagon. The obliging brass have whisked him to his appointments with military precision. In turn, Stennis has presided kindly over military matters.

Arizona's Barry Goldwater, the conscience of the Senate, has lectured his colleagues sternly against congressional junketing. But the flight logs, which were intended for official eyes only, show he hitched rides from the Air Force last year at least 18 times, including three flights to his home state.

Another three flights were booked to Easton, Md., the scenic spot where Washington's most prominent hunters shoot geese. A Goldwater aide said the senator's Pentagon-paid junkets, with few exceptions, were taken to deliver speeches to improve military morale. The flights to Maryland's Eastern Shore, explained the aide, were arranged to stay with an old friend, Lt. Gen. William Quinn.

Two House Armed Services chairmen, Edward Hebert, D-La., and his successor, Mel Price, D-Ill., flew the friendly skies of the 89th Military Aircraft Wing to visit their home bases. Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield made two trips to Mexico last year on VIP planes.

The costliest trips were the congressional junkets to faraway places with strange-sounding names. Some trips, with split-second schedules and heavy work loads, were anything but glamorous. But others clearly were all-expenses-paid vacations in official guise to sunbathed, palm-studded places.

Julian Bond at large

Vendor ripoff in food stamps

Both liberals and conservatives agree that the federal food stamp program should make it possible for every American to receive a nutritionally adequate diet and that this should be accomplished with maximum efficiency and at minimum cost to the taxpayers, with minimum opportunities for fraud.

Conservatives, however, have proposed food stamp legislation that sacrifices these goals by discriminating against the working poor, increasing administrative costs unnecessarily and allowing large-scale fraud by food stamp vendors to continue. Alternative bills have been introduced in the House and Senate to improve the present program without these inconsistencies.

The major charge made by those attacking the food stamp program is that it is filled with recipient fraud. Actually such fraud occurs in a tiny fraction of cases — only 0.08 percent as reported by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Only 4.3 percent of people in the food stamp program are ineligible, and about half of these are a result of caseworker error. The remaining ineligible could be attributed to recipient error, but a department report observed that "errors caused by recipients are usually unintentional, arising from carelessness or lack of knowledge concerning the program."

The numerous errors in determining who is eligible for food stamps results from the complex set of itemized deductions from gross income required by the present program. The alternative, non-conservative food stamp reform bills would simplify the present eligibility process by setting a standard deduction of $125 to $135 per month for each household.

The major fraud in the food stamp program is perpetrated by some of the 6,700 vendors — the vendors are banks, post offices, credit unions and check cashing businesses — who distribute stamps to eligible recipients in return for a cash payment.

According to an Agriculture Department official, over $17 million has been hoarded or embezzled by 170 vendors. That kind of crime isn't recipient fraud, it's large-scale, white-collar, business executive crime.

Vendor fraud is made possible by the transfer of large sums of money under the purchase requirements that made it necessary for a recipient to pay for a portion of his food stamps. The Senate Agriculture Committee has estimated that just eliminating the purchase requirement would save $100 million in administrative costs annually.

A second consequence of the purchase requirement is the failure of the current program to provide a nutritionally adequate diet to everyone. A recent study of the New York State food stamp program showed that 27.4 percent of the households in the program could not afford to purchase their full allotment of stamps. Many more cannot afford to participate at all.

How poor is poor?

Anyone who has to struggle to maintain a decent standard of nutrition on a limited income would see the limits proposed by some bills as unrealistic and, indeed, cruel.

The food stamp program is a valuable and necessary program that has been much maligned for its administrative shortcomings. The Congress should strike a needed balance between helping the poor and cutting program costs, between encouraging the working poor and weeding out those clearly not in need.

Doc Peirsol Just in jest

Dr. Emile Coue (1857-1926) is the fellow who really originated the theory that the power of positive thinking can cure all ills. Just say, "Day by day in every way things are getting better and better," was his advice. But fortunately for Dr. Coue, he departed his vale of tears some 50 years ago. Otherwise, I feel sure he would have scrapped that optimistic approach to successful living and philosophically admitted that, day by day in every way things are getting worse and worse. Look at the evidence and see if you don't agree.

Over the past 10 years the population of the United States has increased 13 per cent. During that same time period, reported crimes have increased 176 per cent.

Recent legislation has made it legal to sell hard liquor on Sunday in Atlanta, Ga.

According to the city planners of San Clemente, the former locale of the Western White House, persons making less than $15,000 a year can't afford to purchase a residence in that city.

And if that isn't bad news enough to prove my point, consider this: By the time they have reached middle age, 25 million Americans have lost all their teeth. Which is the largest number of toothless middle aged Americans in our nation's history.

Cranston replies and replies

By EARL G. WATERS

Although reluctant to labor the issue, this column has received so many letters from readers regarding the efforts of U.S. Senator Alan Cranston to secure special tax exemptions for the gratuitous $30 a day "expense" money California legislators have given themselves, that a concluding comment seems incumbent.

It is not known how many citizens wrote to Cranston but judging from his response to us, it must have been sufficient to get his attention. Whether it was merely a nervous reaction or a computer snafu his four page letter to us explaining his reasons was immediately followed by 12 more separate mailings of the same letter! Copies of that letter were also sent to the citizens who wrote to him.

While we are always happy to hear from the good senator this unending flow of missives seems a bit much, even though he used his franking privilege, an unnecessary burden upon an already overstrained postal service. Even so it might have been worth the expense had Cranston thrown in the towel after receiving the avalanche of irate letters. But, with five years to go before he must again stand before the voters, he has taken an adamant stand and seeks to justify his actions.

It was most kind of the senator to go to all the trouble to explain his reasons but unfortunately we have great difficulty understanding his reasoning. He says he agrees with the tenet that those who make the laws should be bound by them. That is why he proposes the special tax exemption for lawmakers. His logic is perplexing. If everyone now gets exemptions on expense allowances why is it necessary for a special bill to exempt legislators?

According to Cranston, Internal Revenue rules permit citizens traveling away from home on business to claim up to $44 a day in exemptions for expenses without itemization. He says federal employees, including IRS agents, are paid between $35 and $50 a day travel expenses not subject to tax. Whoa, senator. You overlook the fact federal employees, and state as well, must account for those expenses and submit vouchers. So, too, must most citizens working for private firms.

And, while IRS may allow exemptions for flat expense claims up to $44 a day for workers away from home it is not automatic. One reader writes his claims for such exemption were allowed only up to $10 a day.

The further fact is that such exemptions are not for unlimited periods. Workers living away from home on construction projects have learned this to their dismay. Away from home expenses are not allowed continuously for any period greater than one year.

California lawmakers now being, of their own doing, "full time legislators" are in Sacramento year around. Many have established their families in the Capital City. Some have sold or rented their former homes and maintain legal residence in their district with "accommodation" addresses. The claim they are maintaining two homes thus becomes fiction.

Some, like Senator Randolph Collier, either forego the $30 a day expense money or pay the income tax on it voluntarily. Others like Senator Donald Grunsky itemize their expenses the same as any other citizen and have no tax problem.

Fortunately, despite Cranston's unwillingness to back off, the entire issue may soon be resolved by the special commission on public salaries created by the Legislature at the urging of Speaker Leo McCarthy. It is expected it will recommend appropriate compensation for legislators and eliminate the controversial fringe benefits.

Please, Senator Cranston, no reply is necessary.

What size nest for 2 pigeons?

Read 545

DEAR DR. MILLER: How big should the boudoir or, more specifically the nest box, be for a pair of pigeons? — J.A.

DEAR J.A.: On the average, one square foot of nest space will do it, although breed and box size should be related. A pair of African owls might snuggle down in half that space, while a pair of giant runts require more than the square foot.

DEAR DR. MILLER: If a cat has been exposed to a neighbor's cat who is known to have ear mites, will a good dose of mineral oil keep them from getting hold? — K.S.

DEAR K.S.: Assuming that "dose" of oil is given "aurally" (in the ears), not orally, then yes, mineral oil might prevent a mitey problem. The oil, when it can actually reach and coat an ear mite, will at least encourage the critter to leave and at best will wipe it out by blocking off its air supply. A well-established case of ear mite infestation should be treated, at least initially, by the veterinarian. But even here, preliminary treatment with mineral oil is of value because it is somewhat soothing to the ear, and definitely discourages the mites it is able to reach.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Prince is a people-loving dog usually, but he's really turned off by a new friend of mine. In trying to find a reason, I came up with a possible explanation. Her clothes are almost always grays or blacks. Could he be turned off by these negative colors? — G.A.

DEAR G.A.: While grays, black (and even purples) are indeed depressing (negative) colors to a large percentage of the people population, Prince and all other pooches shouldn't be so affected. Since canines view the world primarily in shades of gray anyway, her color choices couldn't be turning him off. Whether he has an olfactory aversion (to her perfume, possibly?) or is turned off by something even more subtle would be hard to say. If it's important, he might in time be encouraged to change his opinion, but don't push Prince too fast. A canine can change his mind about someone, for the better with or without subtle encouragement. But forcing the issue could be fatal to any future friendship.

Ann Landers

Still trying to sell old story

Dear Ann Landers: Please don't laugh or think I am dumb. I'm a sixteen-year-old girl who needs information.

I'm going with this guy I'll call Brad. He's not my steady or anything like that, but I like him a lot. He's neat and fun to be with. I see Brad more than any other guy. He is 17.

My complexion has got worse in the last two months and Brad told me last night it's because I am going against nature's call and not expressing myself sexually. He also said his complexion was terrible until he went all the way with a girl last year. Then it cleared up. Brad showed me a couple of bumps on his face and said his skin was beginning to act up again and it was sort of my fault because I was frustrating him. He suggested we have sex together for the sake of our complexions. Is there anything to what he says? — Splotchy, But Well-Behaved

Dear S.: Are the boys still trying to sell that crock of crabapple juice? I heard it 40 years ago. It was bullfeathers then and it's bullfeathers now.

Teenagers with skin problems should go to a dermatologist. That's where the help is. What Brad is suggesting could send you to another kind of doctor.

Dear Ann Landers: The letter from the agonized wife, who was worried sick that her klepto husband might be caught, struck very close to home. I don't think that letter was actually written by my wife, but there were enough similarities in it to make me resolve never again to shoplift anything so long as I live.

I went into a cold sweat when I read that column. I visualized my family's shame and saw many long years of hard work go down the drain — my reputation with it. And all because of a foolish little game I had been playing. I never stole a thing I couldn't pay for. Crazy, isn't it?

You'll never know what a great service you performed by printing that letter. Thanks a million, Ann. — Cured For Sure

Dear Cured: Since kelpomania is an illness, I hope you clipped that column and you will reread it from time to time. Thanks for letting me know it got to you.

Dear Ann Landers: Is there relief of any kind for a person with my problem? How do other people deal with it? I can't be the only one.

Here I am nearly 60 years old and I still cry, bawl, sob, walk the floor and wring my hands because of my miserable childhood.

Never a hug or a kiss, a compliment or a kind word. It was always an order, a crack on the side of the head, a shove or a kick. We weren't spanked. We were beaten. We weren't slapped, we were pummeled.

Why can't I forget? Why do parents do such things? No sweet memories. It's torture. Am I crazy? — Denver

Dear Denver: No, you aren't crazy, but you do need professional help to overcome the anger and resentment that has hung on much too long.

You were an unloved, battered child. Most unloved and battered children had parents who were also unloved and battered. When you understand what THEIR lives must have been like, you will stop grieving about your miserable childhood and look outward and ahead, instead of inward and back.

Erma Bombeck

I. Dunno driving her crazy

Ever since I read a newspaper article about myself stating I was the mother of four, I've gone crazy trying to find the other kid. Newspapers don't lie. If they said I have four children, then it stands to reason I've misplaced one.

You know something? I think I just found the missing Bombeck. His name is I. Dunno. Everyone sees him but me. All I know is he's rotten.

Who left the front door open?

I. Dunno.

Who let the soap melt down the drain?

I. Dunno.

Who ate the banana I was saving for the cake?

I. Dunno.

Frankly, I. Dunno is driving me nuts. He's lost two umbrellas, four pairs of boots and a bicycle. He has 13 books overdue from the library, hasn't brought home a paper from school in three years, and once left a thermos of milk in the car for three weeks.

The other day the phone rang. I ran from the mail box, cut my leg, tore off a fingernail in the door, and got to the phone in time to see my son hanging up.

"Who was it?" I asked breathlessly.

"I. Dunno. He hung up."

"The little jerk could have let it ring a few more times," I grumbled.

When I told my neighbor about it, she said "Cheer up. I've had an invisible child for years."

"What's his name?" I asked miserably.

Dr. Lamb

Fruit diet for the birds

DEAR DR. LAMB — My son and his wife have gone on a diet that is strictly fruits and vegetables with no milk, meat, eggs, bread, cheese, etc. As an example for breakfast they have fresh fruits such as sliced peaches, melons, apples and bananas. For lunch they have lettuce, tomatoes, radishes, bananas, peaches or an apple mixed with raw nuts, or sunflower seeds but no peanuts because they are of the legume family. For dinner they have stewed vegetables and no seasonings.

They eat this day after day for months. They claim it is for their health, to cleanse their bodies and not because it is a reducing diet. It is part of their religion. They expect to keep this up for at least a year.

My son has lost approximately 20 pounds since starting this diet. I am concerned about them but try not to interfere in their way of living. I would like to know if this is a healthy diet for a person doing heavy physical labor.

DEAR READER — Although I do not claim to be a student of the Bible, I do believe that a basic tenet of most religions is to avoid suicide and things which are damaging to one's health. That is a strong statement but the continuation of the kind of a diet that you described over a long period of time can lead to such a severe malnutritional problem that it runs the risk of inducing a major health crisis or death.

Many people are able to eat a well-balanced diet as strict vegetarians but they do this by using adequate amounts of the legume or bean family. Without an adequate amount of these in the diet they would have a severe protein deficiency. In the diet that you have described about the only source of protein I see is the small amount present in raw nuts and sunflower seeds.

As a reader of my column you know that I prefer for people to eliminate all excess body fat, but I do not believe in starvation or emaciation because of an inadequate diet. I hope that your son's loss of 20 pounds has been all body fat and not muscle. However, the above diet strongly suggests that he may be losing muscle as well as fat.

I cannot condemn such a diet too strongly. Every diet must have an adequate amount of protein. If a person for religious beliefs wishes to avoid all animal products then he must be absolutely certain that he includes an adequate amount of the bean family in his diet to provide sufficient protein.

The diet must contain sufficient calories not to cause undue weight loss which results in loss of muscle and vital body cells.

I consider a number of these fad diets that have been circulated in recent times as being real health menaces. Those who want information on the balanced diet can send 50 cents for The Health Letter, number 4-6, Balanced Diet, Recommended Daily Dietary Allowances (RDA). Send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing. Address your letter to me in care of the Progress Bulletin, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

An oldtimer's dirty trick

By Oswald & James Jacoby

The unlucky expert asked us, "Who are those old timers playing East and West at table eight?"

We replied, "We don't know their real names, but in the days of auction they were known as A and B and always defended hands in the bridge columns of that day."

"I wish I had known," he groaned. "Look at this hand. There I was in a perfectly normal three notrump. After the opening spade lead I was going to need four diamond tricks for my contract. As you can see, the diamonds are 3-3 and West has the king so everyone else made an over-trick. I just made three for a bottom score."

If you readers can't figure out what happened, it seems that old man A had played his king of diamonds on the first lead of the suit. Our unlucky expert had ducked in order to guard against a 4-2 diamond break and made only four diamond tricks against five scored at all other tables.

INSURED SAVINGS

Q. "The TV ad says nobody has ever lost a dime in a bank account insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. But how much has the FDIC paid out to prevent such losses?"

A. About $1.6 Billion since 1934. It's taken that much to cover 527 bank failures.

Bob Hope for years let the government pick up the tab for much of the cost of many of his shows. The war zones Christmas specials, for instance. Jack Webb uses fire department film to background some of his spectacular "Emergency" scenes. That footage saves him a sizable sum. They pony up the municipal bodies and the ready sets that otherwise would bulge in the shooting budgets.

No other regularly scheduled weekly TV show ever has turned up on more stations at one time than the Lawrence Welk program today.

Maybe you didn't know that Charles Darwin, the Theory of Evolution father, once had been a divinity student who devoutly believed in the Bible's sacred messages.

That collection of writings known as the Talmud, defined in the big book at hand as the body of Jewish civil and canonical law, groups under a single professional category all burglars, bandits and tax collectors.

Most Seasoned Citizens recall that Japan's suicide pilots were greatly lionized over there during World War II. Few realize, though, that the fliers who survived the kamikaze duty were treated at war's end most unheroically with ridicule and some loathing, even. To volunteer for death was not enough. Only death itself overcame disgrace. There were 54 of those saddened survivors.

Early end to Isabel Peron's political career

ISABEL PERON

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Isabel Peron went from cabaret dancer to president of Argentina, the first woman to head a Western Hemisphere government. But the job was overpowering from the start.

Many felt the widow of Juan D. Peron was saddled with an impossible job. Others were less charitable.

Mrs. Peron met Peron on Dec. 23, 1955, in Panama where she was dancing and he was in exile after the army overthrew him three months earlier.

She followed him to Venezuela and then to Spain, first as a secretary and then as his wife. When Peron was allowed to return to Argentina in 1973, at 77 and ailing, he ran for president and won by a landslide.

She was elected vice president.
"I'm his companion, colleague, adviser, wife and sometimes sister and mother," she once told a group of American feminists.

A heart attack killed Peron in July 1974, and she was his successor.
Peron had dominated Argentine politics for 30 years, and his name alone carried enormous weight among millions of workers who felt they owed their dignity to him.

Many accepted Isabel as his legacy to them.
She surrounded herself with a conservative inner circle. Her close confidant and virtual premier, a former policeman and astrologer named Jose Lopez Rega, was forced to flee in July, and was later declared a fugitive on fraud charges.

During her term, the Argentina economy all but collapsed, and deaths by political violence were averaging nearly three a day. Thirty-six ministers served in her eight-man cabinet in a period of 20 months. Three were later charged with misuse of public funds.

Critics accused Mrs. Peron of writing a $700,000 check for personal use from a fund originally set up as a charity by Peron's second wife, Eva, who died in 1952 and was considered a saint by many. The matter, called a mistake, was eventually forgotten, but it left a mark.

Isabel Peron was born Feb. 4, 1931, in the poor northern Province of La Rioja, daughter of a banker who died soon after her birth.

She came to Buenos Aires with her mother and four brothers and sisters. She is known to have studied dance and French, leaving school early in life.

At 24 she was a chorus girl in Buenos Aires' Avenida Theater. She later joined a touring troupe which took her to Panama.

Mrs. Peron was seen little as president except for occasional televised speeches in which she alternately appeared composed and firm behind schoolmarm glasses or almost on the verge of hysteria, with her voice cracking and wavering.

In September 1975, after widespread appeals that she take a vacation and allow someone else to run the government, she flew to an air force resort ranch in the mountains of Cordoba Province.

She spent a month there. But she was soon hospitalized for what her doctor called a gall bladder attack. She spent 11 days in the hospital and nearly a month at home.

A few weeks after returning to her desk in early December, right-wing army force officers rebelled against her, demanding that the army take over the country.

The uprising was put down with no casualties. But veteran political observers said it marked the beginning of an early end to Mrs. Peron's political career.

MEMBER OF THE TEAM

Hospitalman Mary Kanikula confers with Lt. Cmdr. Hugh Beatty at Whidbey Island Naval Air Station in Oak Harbor, Mich., before heading out on helicopter search and rescue training. At upper right she is hoisted aboard a Sea Knight helicopter for the training mission. Below she straightens her hair after returning to base.

Mom admits giving pot to her kids

SUSANVILLE (AP) — A mother of five admits she furnished marijuana to four of her children, aged 11 to 14.

Patricia Carter, 33, of Herlong, pleaded guilty Wednesday to a charge of contributing to the delinquency of minors.

In another incident, Mrs. Carter and her husband Leonard, 57, were booked for investigation of assault with a deadly weapon.

The charge stems from the discharge of a rifle on U.S. Highway 395. Authorities said no injuries were reported.

Search and rescue operations

Women in new role in Navy

By The Associated Press

Mary A. Kanikula is doing her part in breaking down the stereotype of the Navy as just another male bastion.

As one of the Navy's 3,174 hospital corpswomen, she is a member of the Search and Rescue Team at the Whidbey Island (Wash.) Naval Air Station.

Her training was the same as the men's in the Search and Rescue Corps. She had to take swimming tests and become familiar with helicopters, as well as be lifted in the rescue hoist. Also, she had taken survival and first aid programs in college.

"And it came in handy," she said, "because they were reluctant to assign a woman to the program."

Just how reluctant the Navy has been to assign women to such jobs is difficult to determine because, according to a Navy spokeswoman, each command makes its own decision on whether a search and rescue team is essential to its operation. The Navy could provide no figures on how many women have joined search and rescue missions.

But there's little doubt that the seafaring service is training more women in such fields as machinery, construction and medicine.

When she is not rescuing people, Mary is a Navy pharmacist.

The Jungle Jim.

(Smirnoff, creme de banana, milk.)

You can't grow up in America without discovering how beautifully bananas go with milk.

But is there any reason why in our adult years that gold-white taste should become a mere memory? Our search for an answer led us to a drink called The Jungle Jim. And only one thing caused us a moment's hesitation in recommending it to our friends everywhere:

We hope that because The Jungle Jim does conjure pleasant memories of bananas in cream, people won't forget they're putting away two ounces of liquor.

The Jungle Jim.

To make a Jungle Jim:
pour 1 oz. Smirnoff,
1 oz. creme de banana and 1 oz. milk into a short glass with ice. Stir.

ZONING CASE NO. 6131-11
PROPOSED CHANGE OF OFFICIAL ZONING PLAN OF THE SAN JOSE ZONED DISTRICT NO. 21, AMENDING SECTION 332 OF ZONING ORDINANCE NO. 1494, COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES, STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

Notice is hereby given that a continued public hearing will be held by the Board of Supervisors on the matter of proposed changes of zone. Said hearing will be held on April 8, 1976 at 9:30 a.m. in the Hearing Room of the Board of Supervisors, Room 301, Hall of Administration, 500 West Temple Street (corner of Temple Street and Grand Avenue), Los Angeles, California 90012, at which time proponents and opponents of the proposed changes will be heard before the Board of Supervisors. The affected properties are within the area described as follows:

Beginning at the intersection of South Brea Canyon Road and East Colima Road; thence northerly along the East Looming Street centerline and its prolongation for a distance of 1910 feet; thence westerly along the centerline of Pomona Freeway; thence westerly along the centerline of the Pomona Freeway to the centerline of South Brea Canyon; thence northerly along the centerline of South Brea Canyon Road to the point of beginning.

The Regional Planning Commission, County of Los Angeles, has adopted a resolution recommending:

1. Change of zone from A-1-15,000 (Light Agriculture - 15,000 square foot required area) to M-1-10P (Light Manufacturing - Development Program) for property as shown on Study "A" dated December 22, 1975 on file with this case in the office of the Department of Regional Planning;
2. That the Board of Supervisors approve the Final Environmental Impact Report; certify that the Final Environmental Impact Report has been completed in compliance with the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA), the State Guidelines and the County Guidelines and that the Board has reviewed and considered the information contained in the Final Environmental Impact Report; and determine that the proposed project will not have a significant effect on the environment;
3. That the Board of Supervisors find the recommended zoning is consistent with the Los Angeles County General Plan; and
4. That the Board of Supervisors hold a public hearing to consider the above-recommended change of zone.

By order of Deputy Clerk of the Board, pursuant to cancellation of regularly scheduled hearing on Thursday, March 11, 1976, due to lack of a quorum.

Court mulls states' rights on abortion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court is pondering whether the states may curb its 1973 decision that a woman has a constitutional right to choose to have an abortion.

The court has heard arguments involving differing laws in Massachusetts and Missouri and conflicting lower court decisions.

Lawyers for Planned Parenthood of Central Missouri and for private citizens in Massachusetts argued that both states have laws unduly restricting unmarried girls under 18 from having abortions by requiring parental consent. The court made no immediate decision.

Attorneys for both states maintained that their legislatures were within their rights in enacting regulations following the 1973 Supreme Court decision that a woman, in consultation with her physician, may have an abortion in the early term of her pregnancy.

The Massachusetts law, held invalid by a U.S. District Court, required consent of both parents prior to an abortion on an unmarried girl under 18. It provided, however, that a state court could authorize an abortion in the absence of parental permission.

A similar court in St. Louis held constitutional a 1974 Missouri law requiring the written consent of a woman's husband if she is married, and of a parent if she is single and under 18.

Frank Sussman, attorney for the planned parenthood group, told the court that illegal abortions and illegitimate births have decreased significantly since the 1973 decision, and he added, "No democracy has ever reversed a trend toward legal abortions."

All nine court members participated in questioning the attorneys in two hours of arguments over these cases.

Justice John Paul Stevens wanted to know if states could require parental consent before a minor could be tattooed or grow long hair.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger raised the problem of someone wanting a tattoo of "an antiwar symbol — isn't the First Amendment involved?" Justice Harry A. Blackmun asked about parental consent before a girl could have her ears pierced, and would it make a difference whether it was done by a doctor or a nurse?

Roy Lucas of Washington, arguing that the Massachusetts law is invalid, said these examples are not of the same stature as an abortion, and that the consequences carry less import.

Missouri Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth argued that the state regulates when minors may vote, drink, make contracts, buy firearms and "even when a minor goes into a pool hall, the consent of his parents is required."

He defended the provision requiring the consent of a woman's husband prior to an abortion, saying, "This is a decision that is fundamental to marriage. ... Certain decisions are made jointly in marriage or they are not made at all."

Sussman said the provision interferes with the physician-patient relationship, saying, "This section allows the husband to override the decision of the woman and her doctor. The husband need not even be the father. He may not be locatable; he may have abandoned his spouse 10 years ago. The law allows no room for compromise."

Attorneys for both states said abortion clinics ignore the Supreme Court ruling that a woman should consult with her physician before deciding on abortion. They said there may be group counseling but ordinarily a doctor has not seen the patient prior to the operation.

The high court also took under advisement another case involving a Missouri law denying Medicaid payments to women on welfare who choose to have abortions not needed for medical reasons.

Crippled Children's Society now taking camp applications

Applications for the Crippled Children's Society 1976 resident summer camping program are now being accepted at the Pomona Regional Center, 480 N. Indian Hill Blvd., Claremont.

Each year the free camping program provides two weeks of vacations for 675 handicapped children and adults from Los Angeles County. The camping program is made possible through contributions to the Crippled Children's Seal Campaign.

The society maintains two camps, Camp Joan Mier above the Pacific Coast Highway in Malibu and Camp Paivika in the San Bernardino Mountains.

There are five sessions of two weeks each at both camps, running from June 21 to Aug. 28.

This year, the society is offering a pre-session for more mature adults from June 12 to 18. This program is designed as an adult vacation rather than a structured camp experience.

Camp programs include swimming, horseback riding, archery, camp-outs, arts and crafts, singing and nature study. Registered nurses live at the camps and physicians are on call at all times.

Application information may be obtained by calling 621-4727.

Pentagon feels Egypt may oust Russ navy from port

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Egyptian order ousting the Russian navy from the port of Alexandria would cause the Russians problems in maintaining their diesel submarines in the Mediterranean, Pentagon officials say.

U.S. intelligence sources expect Egyptian President Anwar Sadat to issue such an order in the wake of his repudiation last week of a treaty of friendship and cooperation with the Soviet Union.

If such an order is issued, the sources said, the Russians probably will put pressure on friendly Arab countries such as Libya and Syria to allow their ports to be used for support of the Soviet Mediterranean fleet.

In the past, Libya has resisted Soviet efforts to gain base rights, although Libya has drawn politically close to Russia and has bought large amounts of Soviet weapons. Syria is heavily dependent on Russia for grants of weapons and might be less able to fend off Russian pressure.

The Soviet Mediterranean fleet, numbering about 45 ships at any given time, has been using Egyptian ports for maintenance, resupply and crew rest for many years.

Customarily, Pentagon officials said, Soviet submarines have docked at Alexandria in mid-patrol for fresh provisions and essential upkeep. About three or four Russian submarines often have been in Alexandria at the same time.

Unless new port facilities became available to the Russian fleet, Pentagon officials said, the Soviets would have to take extra measures to keep their present force of about 10 diesel-powered subs operating in the Mediterranean.

They would have to rotate their subs more frequently from home bases in the Black Sea or send additional support vessels into the Mediterranean to service the submarines at deep water anchorages.

The Russian fleet used to have access to three Egyptian ports. But this access has been cut back, along with the overall Soviet military presence in Egypt, since 1972.

Garage owners to meet

A "Garage Owners' Action Seminar" will be held Tuesday at 7:45 p.m. in the Little Theater at Chaffey College in Alta Loma.

It will be sponsored by the automotive technology department at the college, Inland Empire Unit 14 of the Automotive Service Council of California and the California Automotive Wholesalers Association.

Members of the Automotive Service Council in Pomona, Chino, Claremont, Upland, Fontana and San Bernardino will attend.

Three speakers will be Herb Forer, legal counsel for the Automotive Service Council of California, who will discuss "The Bar, the Constitution and You"; Fred Naglestad, council legislative analyst, who will deliver a "Sacramento to Legislative Update"; and Jim Hamilton, executive vice president of the California Automotive Wholesalers Association, whose topic will be "Survival Is a Two-Way Street."

Admission to the seminar is free. Garage owners, service station owners or operators, auto parts jobbers and auto parts wholesalers may attend.

Skeleton identified as student

RIVERSIDE (AP) — Skeletal remains found in snow near Wrightwood have been identified as those of David Cole, 23, a student at the University of California at Riverside, authorities said.

Cole was reported missing in 1974 and Robinson Huff, 42, of Sunnymead, was convicted of manslaughter last July in Riverside Superior Court in his death.

New 19" diagonal Magnavox STAR SYSTEM Quality in every detail

... gives you perfectly tuned color pictures on any channel ... instantly

... BY COMPUTER!

Model 4471 - shown on optional (at extra cost) mobile cart

Color revolutionized the television industry ... and the Magnavox Star System has revolutionized color TV. Selected Tuning at Random. It's as simple as using a pushbutton telephone! It requires no fine tuning, no programming — ever. It lets you zero in on any channel ... UHF or VHF ... instantly, directly, silently — without searching. Press the channel number on the hand-held transmitter ... and it is displayed on the screen, then disappears after three seconds, and, you'll see a color picture that stands at the leading edge of the consumer electronic art: a picture that only the most advanced, most reliable receiver in Magnavox history could produce! Other transmitter pushbuttons include on/off, volume, mute, and channel recall. Another feature is the Videomatic electronic eye that automatically adjusts the picture's brightness, contrast and color to changes in room light for comfortable, eye-pleasing viewing. The picture is never washed out in a bright room, never glares in a dark room. There's also the Precision In-Line Tube for one of the best pictures your money can buy. Your choice of several styles.

World society affected

Population explosion shattering

NEW YORK (AP) — The world's population explosion is having shattering impact on at least 22 other dimensions of human society, including jobs, inflation, food supply, climate and forests, a new study warns.

Critical issues are arising from pressures of a world population of 4 billion, which at present growth rates would reach 12 billion in 2030, say 54 years from now, says Worldwatch Institute of Washington, D.C.

"The population problem concerns us, but it will concern our children and grandchildren even more. How we respond to the population threat may do more to shake the world in which they will live than anything else we do," the institute says in a paper titled "Twenty Two Dimensions of the Population Problem."

Worldwatch Institute is an independent, nonprofit research organization founded "to identify and focus attention on global problems." Its new paper, issued in cooperation with the Population Institute of New York, was written by Lester Brown, Worldwatch president, and Patricia McGrath and Bruce Stokes, institute researchers.

The paper comments that world population is not likely to double over the next generation, because of intolerable conditions that would have been generated beforehand.

"Current population growth rates cannot continue for much longer. Birth rates will come down, death rates will go up, or more likely both will occur. Increasing nutritional stress, environmentally induced illnesses, and social disintegration can all contribute to rising death rates and falling birth rates."

As indicators of population pressure problems, the report says:

—Almost a billion new jobs will be required in developing countries between now and the year 2000. But few such countries have the necessary investment capital.

—Illiteracy is increasing from 700 million adult illiterates in 1950 to 800 million now.

—The world receives 200,000 new consumers, babies who will have needs, each day.

—Farmers cannot expand the supply of cereals enough to meet world demand. World grain stocks have been drawn down to scarcely 30 days of world consumption. Wheat prices have more than doubled. Malnutrition is rising, and each year 15 million children under age 5 die of combined effects of malnutrition and infection.

—National parks are under increasing pressure by ever expanding use, and abuse, and in Africa "parks and game preserves have been sacrificed to the fierce demand for farm land which is needed to feed burgeoning populations."

The list of fallout problems from the population explosion include oceans being overfished and polluted, air pollution, and a profusion of new chemicals endangering animal and plant species and causing human environmental illnesses, including cancer.

Housing is inadequate for millions of people, the report goes on, and global weather is being affected by dust and burning of fossil fuels. Lands are being overgrazed. Overcrowding of people in cities is believed to have injurious health effects.

Forests are being denuded to make room for agriculture and to provide wood for shelter, fire wood and newsprint.

Political conflicts are also being engendered as in competition for resources, including fish and minerals. Health services are not available for hundreds of millions of people. Supplies of drinkable water are becoming scarcer and "the squeeze on energy supplies is being fought all over the world."

Further, individual freedom is being limited by the need for more rules and regulations to supervise "individual use of the earth's resources for the common good."

"National and international leaders can no longer dodge the peril inherent in continuing rapid population growth, or shrug it off with irresponsible optimism," the report declares.

The peculiar costume of the colonial backwoodsman fighting in the Revolution attracted even more attention than their marksmanship. Its pattern was borrowed from the Indians, consisting of a hunting shirt of linsey-woolsey. The shirt had a double cape and was fringed along the edges and seams and upon its breast was the motto "Liberty or Death." Around the waist it was secured by a belt in which were thrust a tomahawk and skinning knife. Some men wore buckskin breeches, others preferred buckskin leggings and an Indian breechcloth. Officers were distinguished by the crimson sashes worn over their shoulders.

McCall Coach of Year Carpenter top player

By MIKE BROSSART
PB Staff Writer

Gary Carpenter, who has proved himself to be about as versatile as a high school basketball player can be, has been selected the Valley High School Basketball Player of the Year by the Progress Bulletin.

Carpenter, a 6-foot-5 senior who played both forward and guard this season, led the Garey Vikings to their second straight San Antonio League title and to the second round of the postseason playoffs. He was also a big factor in the Vikes' 3-A championship last year.

In 1975, with Delbert McDonald and David Larry playing inside for Garey, Carpenter did most of his shooting from a wing position.

At the beginning of this year, after the graduation of McDonald and Larry, Carpenter moved to the inside where he established himself as the SAL's best forward.

But for the second half of the season he played point guard, bringing the ball downcourt for the Vikings, handling most of the passing, shooting from outside and in and then crashing the boards better than anyone else in the league.

The result was that Carpenter, the SAL's Most Valuable Player averaged 19.7 points per game, 18.9 rebounds and six assists. During league play, his rebounding average skied to an incredible 21.8.

"Gary does more different things on the court than anyone we've had at Garey High, including Greg Ballard (an All-Pac-8 selection this year at Oregon)," said Mike Wells, coach of the Vikings.

"He's easily the most all-around player we've had," Wells continued. "His success in college will depend on where he goes and what he does, but I know he'll be a success as a player."

"Gary has a good mind, and that will make him successful at whatever he does. That's what Greg Ballard and Delbert McDonald and Gary Carpenter all have in common — a good mind."

Here is the rest of the Progress Bulletin's All-Valley Team, chosen without regard for position:

First Team

MARK McQUAID (Chaffey): This 6-4 senior forward broke the Tigers' single-season scoring record with 531 points. He was the valley's fourth-leading scorer with 20.3 points per game. Mark, who shot 53 per cent from the floor, 68 per cent from the foul line and averaged 10.3 rebounds per game, was the Citrus Belt League's Co-Most Valuable Player. He led the Tigers to the 4-A quarterfinals.

STEVE SLY (Bonita): A 6-4 senior center, Steve broke all the Bearcats' rebounding records while leading the team in scoring (544 points), rebounds (376), field goal percentage (53) and free throw percentage (64). The second-leading scorer in the valley, he averaged 21.9 points and 15.1 rebounds.

GEORGE TERRY (Ganesha): A speedy 5-10 senior guard, George scored 20.8 points per game this year, third best in the valley. He was one of the most exciting players in the area, capable of tremendous spurts of defensive hustle and scoring. He had high games of 35, 31 and 30 this year, the latter two figures coming in the final two SAL games of the year against Damien and Garey.

ANTHONY VASQUEZ (Alta Loma): A 6-2 senior forward, Anthony was the leader of a team that went undefeated in Hacienda League play and 26-2 on the year. Vasquez proved himself a tremendous all-around player with league averages of 16.2 points, 6.8 rebounds, 54 per cent field goal shooting, 79 per cent free throw shooting and 4.4 steals. He was selected the HL's Most Valuable Player.

MIKE WETENKAMP (Damien): This 6-3 senior forward was the valley's leading scorer with 563 points and an average of 22.5. He shot 32 per cent from the floor and 65 per cent from the foul line while pulling down 195 rebounds.

UCLA is back where it belongs

As Gene Bartow put it, UCLA is back where it belongs in the finals of the NCAA basketball playoffs.

It's almost automatic how UCLA just rolls on and on.

In the past, it was proven it didn't matter who played on the teams. When the Gail Goodrich group left, there was Kareem Abdul-Jabbar followed by Sidney Wicks, Bill Walton, Keith Wilkes, David Meyers and now Rich Washington and Marques Johnson.

And now it can be said even a change of coaches doesn't stop the Bruins.

In his first season, Bartow has UCLA just where John Wooden usually had them at this point of the season.

According to all the experts, Saturday's semifinal game against undefeated Indiana in Philadelphia should be the end of the line.

Using all logic, it should be. Indiana beat the Bruins by 20 in the season opener. The Hoosiers have lost only one game — by two points to Kentucky in last year's playoffs — in two seasons and that was with an ailing Scott May, their top player.

Coach Bobby Knight has built a powerhouse in Bloomington with teamwork and a rugged defense being the main ingredients.

Yet it's hard to imagine anyone being a favorite over UCLA in the national finals.

UCLA has won 47 of its last 48 NCAA playoff games — an incredible record — and is looking for its 11th national title in 13 years. In the one NCAA loss to North Carolina State two years ago, the Bruins gave it away after enjoying a seven-point lead in the second overtime.

Tradition favors Bruins

The Bruins have tradition and their reputation going for them.

Saturday's game — which will be televised by NBC at 1:15 p.m. — is a classic matchup between the perennial kings of college basketball against the upstarts from Indiana.

The main question about the outcome centers on UCLA's improvement since the November battle in St. Louis. There is no question the Bruins are more solid now since Bartow has settled on a starting unit which is led by Washington and Johnson, two of the most talented players in America.

But has Indiana improved? It's difficult for anyone on the West Coast to know. The Hoosiers hit a mid-season slump when they had some close calls but appear to be back in their game.

Since Indiana emphasizes its defense, Knight's team seldom has off nights.

This year's championships resembles the scene two years ago in North Carolina when UCLA and to-ranked North Carolina State met in the semis with the title really decided in that game.

Not many experts give the other two semifinalists — undefeated but still untested Rutgers and speedy Michigan — much of a chance to win it all but stranger things have happened in sports.

Dodgers' offer rejected by Andy

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Peter O'Malley has disclosed that pitcher Andy Messersmith has rejected a new offer from the Los Angeles Dodgers.

O'Malley, the club's president, said the offer turned down Wednesday was "slightly higher" than the $540,000 three-year package previously offered. He said it would be the Dodgers' final offer.

Messersmith, 30, was declared a free agent for 1976 in December. He won 19 games for the Dodgers last season.

"I don't expect to call him back," O'Malley said after learning of Messersmith's decision through his agent, Herb Osmond.

Messersmith is seeking a four-year, no-cut contract and the Dodgers' bid was apparently the fourth firm offer he had received.

"He turned down what we thought was an offer that had a chance," O'Malley said. "We offered him slightly more than what we offered him before. I'd say it's in the same ballpark with the best offer he's received from anyone."

O'Malley restated the Dodgers position that they would not get into a bidding war for Messersmith's services.

"Andy is a great pitcher and we're willing to pay him what we think a great pitcher should receive," O'Malley said. "But we're not going to pay two or three times that. We're not going to get into a bidding war or an auction to get him."

Meanwhile, pitcher Doug Rau said his first start of the spring was a little like his first start ever — he was nervous.

"It was just like opening day to me," Rau said after the Dodgers' 13-4 rout of the Montreal Expos in Daytona Beach Wednesday.

"I even had butterflies," he said. "But once we got going, I felt okay." Rau went three innings, allowing a run and three hits.

Dodger reliever Charlie Hough was also impressive, allowing just two hits — one a homer by Barry Foote — in the four innings he worked.

Los Angeles outfielder Bill Buckner, coming off an ankle operation over the winter, paced the Dodger hitting attack with a triple and a pair of doubles against the Expos.

"The ankle feels just fine," Buckner said. "It didn't bother me while I was running, and I did a lot of running."

The Dodgers today were scheduled to host Philadelphia here, with Don Sutton starting against the Phillies' Ron Reed.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Only two basketball teams ever have entered NCAA tournament competition undefeated for two straight years — and they play each other Saturday.

Indiana's No. 1-rated Hurryin' Hoosiers, unbeaten in regular-season competition since early 1974, and the fifth-ranked UCLA Bruins, undefeated in 1972 and 1973, collide in a nationally televised NCAA semifinal game Saturday afternoon in Philadelphia.

The winner will face either No. 3 Rutgers or No. 9 Michigan, the other tourney semifinalists, for the national championship Monday night.

"I'm just delighted that we're there and with the opportunity of "Dionne kicked in the goal because Dennis Potvin had Dionne's stick in the air and Dionne couldn't have gotten his stick on the ice," Islanders Coach Al Arbor said after the game.

Dionne's goal, his 36th of the season, came scored seconds after Kings' Coach Bob Pulford had pulled goalie Rogie Vachon in favor of an extra attacker. Butch Goring fed a perfect pass to Dionne in front of the New York net and Islanders' goalie Glenn Resch lost what would have been his 8th shutout of the season.

"I was upset when Dionne scored," said Resch. "I thought he was in the crease and I thought he kicked it into the net. The referee (Bryan Lewis) was behind the net and not in a good position to call the shot. It might have been different had we been in New York but not in Los Angeles. The refs are on us now."

The Islanders took a 1-0 lead 19 seconds into the second period on center Andre St. Laurent's seventh goal of the season, a 20-foot flip that flew over the shoulder of the King's goalie.

Neither team scored in the first period, which saw tight defensive play and close checking. The Kings got only three shots on Resch, while the Islanders blasted five at Vachon.

Resch played an inspired game, blocking three attempts by the Kings in the waning moments of the final period. He made great stops on blasts from Dionne, Tommy Williams and Bob Barry within a span of seconds.

The tie enabled Los Angeles to remain one point behind the second place Pittsburgh Penguins in the Norris Division playoff chase. The Penguins earlier scored a 5-5 tie with Boston.

"This was one of our better games in quite a while. I thought we could have won the game very easily," said Kings Coach Bob Pulford. "We had a lot of good chances but Resch played pretty well in the nets and we had him under constant pressure."

Indiana, UCLA build rivalry

winning the championship," said Indiana Coach Bobby Knight, whose Hoosiers have won — either individually or collectively — nearly every college honor except the national title.

"I've said all along that my philosophy is the hope that all the teams play their best, that injuries or other such factors play no part," Knight said.

"We can accept the results of that with no regrets."

The Indiana-UCLA rivalry covers just seven previous meetings between the two Big Ten and Pac-8 powers. But the last two games have had tremendous intensity.

In the 1973 NCAA semifinals at St. Louis, the Bruins, led by Bill Walton, surged to a 20-point lead and withstood a frantic Indiana comeback to within two points before Hoosier center Steve Downing fouled out.

UCLA eventually beat Indiana 70-59 and went on to the national championship.

Then, in the season opener last November, again at St. Louis in front of a national television audience, Indiana pounded UCLA 84-64 behind All-American Scott May's 33 points.

The Hoosiers have won 29 straight since then, while the Bruins take a 26-4 mark into Saturday's heralded rematch.

"My concern earlier in the first-round (NCAA tourney) game (against St. John's) and the regional (against Alabama and Marquette) was that something might happen to deny our players the chance in the finals," Knight said. "What they have done in representing this university and our basketball program over the past four years has just been tremendous."

In those four years, the Hoosiers have won 106 games while losing just 12 — going 22-6, 23-5, 31-1 and 30-0 with two games left this year.

Indiana also won its fourth straight Big Ten championship this year and extended its conference record to 37 straight league victories. The Hoosiers also have won 57 consecutive regular-season games and 34 in a row at home.

Knight was a member of Ohio State's national championship team of 1960 and played on the Buckeyes' Big Ten and NCAA runner-up teams of 1961 and 1962. As a coach, Knight has taken the Hoosiers to postseason tournaments five years in a row.

Nastase, Connors get wins

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Ilie Nastase had to work hard for his victory in the Tennis Games here but Jimmy Connors walked over his opponent.

Nastase faced Hakeem Olajuwon of Pakistan Wednesday in a match that started in the warm afternoon sun and ended in the cool evening but the Romanian outlasted Rahim 6-4, 6-6, 6-4.

However, Jimmy Connors demolished Phil Dent of Australia 6-1 6-0, resounding proof that an earlier arm ailment had disappeared.

Dent won his first serve, but Connors then broke the Aussie five times, running off 11 games in a row for his win. Dent returned almost everything the southpaw threw at him but Connors' sharp passing shots and overhead smashes finally made the difference.

Connors will meet Bob Lutz of San Clemente Thursday in the $200,000 American Airlines event, which ends Sunday. The winner will walk away with $35,000.

Nastase and Rahim both held service in the first set the Romanian broke Rahim for a 6-4 victory. However, Rahim came back strongly in the second set to break Nastase, and taking command, jumped to a 5-3 lead and closed out with a 6-4 victory to tie the match.

Nastase began the third set by arguing with the head referee, asking him to make the spectators stop moving.

"It's my court and they're not supposed to distract me," Nastase said. But the referee warned the Romanian and they argued until Rahim also joined in and asked the officials again if they would stop the spectators from moving about.

Nastase continued his bickering tactics with the linesman until Rahim said, "Man, enough is enough." Then Nastase settled down and broke Rahim twice. The deciding game went to deuce eight times, with Nastase taking a 3-1 lead and then a 5-2 advantage. Rahim held his serve, broke Nastase, and pulled to within 5-4, but that was all.

In other matches, Arthur Ashe defeated Sherwood Stewart, 6-4, 6-4; Cliff Richey defeated Harold Solomon, 6-4, 6-3; Cliff Drysdale defeated Ross Case, 6-4, 6-1. John Newcombe defeated Kim Warwick, 5-7, 6-3, 6-2; Roscoe Tanner def. Onny Parun, 6-4, 6-0; Brian Fairlie def. Jaime Fillol, 3-6, 7-5, 7-5; Rod Laver def. Erik Van Dillen, 6-4, 6-3; Mike Estep def. ## NBA weak in Midwest

By The Associated Press
The Midwest Division of the National Basketball Association is so bad it seems the only way for someone to win a game is to play another member of the division.

That's what happened Wednesday night. The Detroit Pistons whipped the Kansas City Kings 110-117 since the NBA insists on playing to a decision, but the Seattle SuperSonics drubbed the Milwaukee Bucks 135-110 and the Boston Celtics downed the Chicago Bulls 94-87. That left 31-41 Milwaukee two games in front of 29-43 Detroit, which moved into second place by one-half game over 29-44 Kansas City, Chicago, 22-50, is nine games from the top.

In the only other NBA action, the Philadelphia 76ers trounced the New York Knicks 118-100.

Bob Lanier's 29 points sparked the Pistons past Kansas City both on the scoreboard and in the standings. The Kings stayed even until Lanier, Curtis Rowe and Eric Money combined to shoot Detroit into a 69-60 halftime lead.

SuperSonics 135, Bucks 110

In a rare starting role, second-year forward Talvin Skinner grabbed 13 rebounds and scored a career-high 26 points. Skinner was pressed into service to replace Leonard Gray, who injured a knee Tuesday and is out for the season. At one point, he sank nine shots in a row.

Milwaukee led 18-13 with five minutes to go in the first quarter but Seattle began to dominate the backboards and outscored the Bucks 18-4 for a 31-22 edge. The Sonics eventually opened a 28-point bulge and took undisputed possession of second place in the Pacific Division, one-half game up on idle Los Angeles. Bruce Seals paced Seattle with 27 points while Brian Winters topped the Bucks with 20.

Celtics 94, Bulls 87

Dave Cowens ignited Boston's fast break in the third period and John Havlicek finished it off with 12 points in the session. Charlie Scott followed the third-period

Webster, Smith earn weekly track honors

PB Staff Writer

Garey High's Stan Webster and Pomona-Pitzer's Steve Smith were honored as Athletes of the Week at the Progress Bulletin's weekly track luncheon Wednesday at the Castaway Restaurant.

Webster received a plaque from the Pomona Elks Lodge for his efforts last week in a dual meet at Claremont and in the Southern Counties Invitational in Huntington Beach.

The Garey senior turned in the valley's best prep long jump of the season at Claremont with a leap of 22 feet, 8 inches. In his first competition in the 330-yard low hurdles, Webster won in 40.1 seconds and he added a second place in the 220 behind teammate Morris Cole.

Webster placed third in both the long jump (22-5) and 330 lows (39.0) at Saturday's invitational. In a qualifying heat, he ran the lows in 38.6, the best time of the year for any valley athlete.

A potent three-sport athlete, Webster was an All-San Antonio League selection this year as a football running back and a basketball guard. He is also the defending SAL and CIF 3-A long jump champion.

"Football is my favorite sport," said Webster. "I've decided to go to the University of Tulsa next year where they'll have me play flanker. My brother Cornell (former Garey football star) is there now as a split end."

"Tulsa doesn't have a track program. They said I could run as an independent, but then I'd miss spring ball and I don't want to do that."

Leos gain split behind McGuire

La Verne split two low-scoring games with Azusa Pacific Wednesday at La Verne. The twinbill was a makeup of two games washed out March 3.

The Leopards dropped the opener, 2-1, but came back to take the nightcap, 3-2 behind Paul McGuire.

APC won the opener in the last inning when loser Fernie Tarin (1-1) was tapped for a one-out single and followed that with two walks which loaded the bases.

The winning run scored on an infield out.

The Cougars jumped off to a 2-0 lead in the second game, but the Leos came back with a pair of their own in the third on Jim Pearn's leadoff home run, a single and stolen base by Mike Page and Wayne Redfern's rbi single.

The Leopards scored the winning and final run of the

"My goal for this year is to make it to the state meet in the long jump and the low hurdles."

Smith, a senior from Chicago, turned in times of 14.1 in the 440 intermediate hurdles, 9.8 in the 100 and 21.8 in the 220 for the Sagehens last week. His time in the intermediate hurdles is a school record.

Quoting the coaches:
DON RUH, MSAC:

"Things are really starting to go with the MSAC Relays. After a long talk with the coach of the Canadian Olympic team, it appears we will get the bulk of their team. Taiwan and Japan will each be sending a team. It looks as though it will be a little more of an international affair this year than it has been in the past."

"We will have our kick off dinner Friday at the Diamond Bar Country Club (7 p.m.). We have invited all the past Olympians living in California."

"Gil Bishop will be the announcer at the Relays this year. He will be a manager for the Olympic team this year. He has put on the Bakersfield Relays the past several years."

"We were very happy to beat Fullerton, 82-62, last week, although the marks weren't as good as we were expecting or as good as we have had. We will go to Orange Coast Friday, and we think that may be a tougher meet for us than Fullerton. Orange Coast's strengths may hurt us more than Fullerton's did."

JIM GEORGE, Cal Poly: "We went to the Northridge Relays last weekend and the wind blew so hard I thought we'd have to put anchors on our guys to keep them from blowing away. But we were pleased to be there and happy to stay on the ground."

"Joe Schiefer and Brian Williams both cleared 6-8 in the high jump to meet national qualifying standards."

"We will be going to Mexico City to compete at their Olympic training center against the Mexican Olympic team and Brigham Young University. We'll meet them Friday and Saturday. We haven't been doing too well to this point and I think some of the guys have been looking ahead to Mexico. We hope to make some additional qualifying standards there. We will take 16 athletes."

"When we get back we'll go against UC Irvine (April 3). Irvine is ranked No. 1 in the nation in NCAA Division II track."

PAT MCCAHEY, Pomona-Pitzer: "We won at Redlands last week. I thought it would be a close meet but it wasn't. We got some good jumping from Eugene Ray and Steve Namikas and John Armstrong finally got some competition and responded well with a 4:07.5 in the mile (new school record). I think he's capable of 4:04 or 4:05."

"Steve Smith did very well. He ran another 14.1 (in the intermediate hurdles) in practice Monday so I hope he can stay at that level."

"We're doing great. We haven't lost a point yet in the high jump or three mile in a dual meet. We'll take nine athletes to the Santa Barbara Easter Relays Saturday. Armstrong may break the meet mile record of 4:06.1."

ERNIE PRENTICE, Garey High: "Like most teams, we have a goal of advancing as far as we can in the CIF. After seeing Crespi Saturday at the Southern Counties Invitational, I think Pomona is the strongest dual meet team in the CIF (3-A). Hopefully by the end of the season we'll be able to compete with them. (The Garey-Pomona meet is scheduled for the last week of SAL dual meet competition.)"

"We're hoping that if we can get by Upland (that meet was set for 3:15 p.m. today), we'll go into the meet with Pomona with a 6-0 record."

Frosh stars at Riverside

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — Freshman Brian Petroff hammered in a home run to help Eastern Michigan in its 7-5 win over Tulsa in the Riverside National Intercollegiate baseball tournament.

Petroff's homer sparked a four-run explosion in the sixth inning Wednesday. The win boosted Eastern Michigan to a 2-1 mark in the series, while Tulsa stands at 1-2.

It was the second homer of the tournament for Petroff, a third baseman from Flint, Mich.

In evening games, Bob Horner drilled a three-run home run to power Arizona State, 3-0 in the tournament, to a 7-3 victory over Tulsa, and Jeff Carsley's two-run homer sparked host UC Riverside a 10-2 decision over Eastern Michigan.

Stanford defeated Brigham Young University 4-2 in 10 innings in a night game.

Stanford shortstop Steve Davis scored on a Pepe Hinojosa double in the top of the 10th inning and Hinojosa later scored on a BYU error to give the Cardinals an insurance run. Stanford and Arizona State are now the only unbeaten teams at the midway point of the six-day tournament.

Second Team
AARON BITRAN (Bonita): A 6-3 senior forward, Aaron averaged 14.8 points and 10.6 rebounds. He shot 48 per cent from the floor.
RICH DAVIS (Alta Loma): Rich, a 6-9 junior, could be a dominating force in the HL next year. He averaged 13.8 points, 8.6 rebounds and 4.0 blocked shots per league game. He shot 53 per cent from the floor.
BILL DUFFY (Damien): Bill could be a contender for Player of the Year honors next year. The 6-4 junior guard averaged 14.0 points and 7.0 rebounds and had 89 assists.
JAMES LOFTON (Garey): This 6-6 junior center is another top prospect for next year. James averaged 13.6 points in league play as well as 16 rebounds and 3.4 blocked shots.

JAMES VERDON (Ganesha): There's no telling how far this smooth-shooting sophomore could go in two years. The 6-3 forward averaged 15.1 points and 10 rebounds in league games.
Third Team
MICKEY DONALDSON (Ontario): This 6-2 junior forward should be a fine player next year. He averaged 14.2 points and 12 rebounds.
JAMIE EAGLE (Alta Loma): This fine ball handler, passer and defensive guard averaged 5.2 assists, 4.1 steals and incredibly for a 6-0 senior, 1.5 blocked shots. He averaged 8.6 points as the playmaker for a team with a 26-2 record.

ROB FOSSUM (Claremont): This 6-5 senior forward averaged 11.1 points and 9.5 rebounds despite suffering an ankle injury midway through the season.
JIMMY LOVE (Chino): The best 6-2 leaper in the valley, this senior forward averaged 10.5 points and 10.1 rebounds.
JOHN MATTKE (Chaffey): John, shooting 53 per cent from the floor, averaged 16.2 points and 7.2 rebounds.

Honorable Mention
Albert Ramirez (Chaffey), Dave Brigante (Claremont), Jon Kolodge (Damien), Ken Dudley (Ganesha), Stan Webster (Garey), Gregg Guenther (La Verne Lutheran), Otis Manning (Ontario), John VanderSchaaf (Ontario Christian), Kelly Bowlin and Jeff Davis (Walnut).

Northridge hires coach

NORTHRIDGE (AP) — Jack Elway will begin his duties as head football coach at Cal State Northridge on April 1, a spokesman says.
Elway, a former offensive coordinator at Washington State University, was named to the position Wednesday, replacing Gary Torgeson, who resigned last December after three years as head football coach. The spokesman said Torgeson, who left with a 1975 record of 46-1, would remain on the staff as an assistant coach.

Elway, 44, spent five years at Washington State, four seasons as first assistant coach at the University of Montana and five years as head coach at Grays Harbor College in Washington. His record at Grays Harbor from 1961 to 1966 was 37-17-2. Three of those years his team was in the top 10 among junior colleges nationally.

Top prep cagers try dunking contest

Five of Southern California's top high school seniors will compete in a spectacular slam dunk competition at halftime of the Lakers/Phoenix game at the Forum on Sunday, March 28. The competition is being sponsored by Farrell's Ice Cream Parlors.
The five players will be 6-8 Gig Sims of Redondo Beach High School; 6-7 James Wilkes of Dorsey; 6-5 Johnny Nash of Long Beach Poly; 6-8 Darrel Alums of Lynwood High; and 6-8 Kiki Vandeweghe of Palisades High.

Mounties fall

El Camino College's tennis team shut out visiting Mt. San Antonio, 9-0, Wednesday afternoon.
The Mounties, 11-5 on the year, will play at Fullerton Tuesday at 2:30 p.m.

Claremont High's tennis squad prevailed over highly regarded Riverside Poly, 16-12, Wednesday afternoon.
Olarn Issara of the Wolfpack went 3-1 in singles matches while teammate Harry Welch was 2-2. The Claremont doubles team of Jeff Arce and Yeron Stemp swept all six points while Mark Christian and Mark Alba finished strong for a 3-3 split.
Poly's Paul Mitch, ranked in the bluebook of the Southern California USLTA, was the only player to go 4-0.
Claremont, 12-0 on the season, will try for its fourth San Antonio League victory Friday at Pomona.

Pomona High enjoys SAL baseball lead

By JIM McCONNELL
PB Staff Writer
Surprising Pomona High, all alone atop the San Antonio League standings with a 3-0 mark, will be traveling to Claremont Friday in a key SAL encounter.
While no one has doubted the potency of the Pomona offensive attack, the Red Devil pitching had been suspect in pre-league outings. But all that has changed now, as Mike Keegan fired up a four-hit shut-out against Damien last Friday and Jackie Phillips blanked Ganesha on five hits Tuesday.
Thus, PHS will be riding a 16-inning scoreless string in Friday's game at the Wolfpack diamond. Keegan, a junior righthander, is expected to get the nod against Claremont, while the 'Pack will probably counter with senior southpaw Mil Pompa.

"The league is very well-balanced this year," noted Devil coach Jay Craven earlier this week, "and it seems like every team has at least one good pitcher. I think the league race will come down to the final week of the season, and we figure we'll be one of the teams in the thick of it."
The heavy-hitting Claremont nine should give the Devil pitching a stern test Friday. The 'Pack, 2-1 in league, has had some trouble getting untracked in the early season going, but an impressive 5-1 win over Montclair ace Don Pierce in the SAL opener was a good indication of how coach Steve Lambert's crew can swing the bats.

Hank Zibell, doing double-duty in track and baseball, has been carrying a hot bat of late for Pomona, while Keegan (who plays shortstop when not pitching) is also a consistent offensive threat.
The 'Pack attack has been paced of late by second baseman Carl Cervantes, with Paul Sokolowski and Rob Haerr also posing as tough outs.
Other SAL games Friday afternoon have Garey (2-1) hosting Montclair (2-1) and Damien (0-3) entertaining Ganesha (0-3). Both those tilts will start at 3:15 p.m. Upland (2-1) will be at Chino (1-2) in a 7:30 p.m. night outing, the first of the SAL season.
Over in the Hacienda League, Bonita (4-0) will try to move out to a comfortable league lead with a win over Royal Oak. That game is set for 3:15 p.m. at the Bearcat diamond.
Cat coach Dick Solomon plans to start Bill Bumstead on the hill against the Romans. Royal Oak (3-1 in league) is the defending CIF 2-A champs. The Romans have been hitting the ball well so far this year but their pitching has been spotty.
That could be a problem Friday, as the Bonita lineup includes three .300 hitters in Scott Johnson, Bumstead and Ralph Ortega. Bruce Hines and Ron Pickenpugh have also been hitting the ball well of late after getting off to slow starts.
Bumstead, in his third year as a regular starter for Bonita, will carry a 4-0 mark and a 0.89 earned run average into Friday's outing.

Poly women lose, then win

ASHLAND, Ohio — Cal Poly's women's basketball team won one and lost one here Wednesday in the Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women Small College championship tournament.
The Broncos began the day with a morning loss to Phillips University of Oklahoma, 67-63, dropping the Pomonans into the consolation bracket.
But Poly came back to post a 78-71 victory over Grand View College of Iowa in the evening and will play its next game Friday against the loser of today's contest between host Ashland College and Tarkio College of Missouri.
The Broncos were tied at 71 with Grand View with 2:16 to play before a late spurt gave them the win. Poly was led by Barbara Thaller with 16 points and 18 rebounds, Linda Scheenstra with 20 points, Joan Uhl with 14 and Musiette McKinney with 13.

Poly, leading 43-35 at halftime, built its lead to as much as 12 points before Grand View came back to tie.
But the Broncos did not fare so well against Phillips, the defending national champion. After losing a 1-0 lead, Poly trailed all the way. Phillips led by one at the half, 35-34, and never held a lead larger than eight points.
Scheenstra and Thaller scored 18 and nine, respectively, for Poly in the opener, but Phillips had three players in double figures. Karen Cannon, an All-America selection last year and the MVP of the 1975 tournament, scored 21, and teammates Sally Clinkner and Jean Major added 10 apiece.

Other Hacienda games have San Dinias (1-3) at Walnut (3-1), Sierra Vista (2-2) at Alta Loma (2-2) and Ontario (1-3) at Gladstone (0-4). All those contests will start at 3:15 p.m.
Also highlighting Friday's schedule is a key Citrus Belt League affair between Fontana (3-1) and Chaffey (3-1). Those two teams will meet in a night game set for 7 p.m. at Ontario's John Galvin Park.
Senior hurler John Matke is expected to get the starting nod for coach Jim Semon's Tigers. Fontana will counter with their ace righthander, Doug Bryant.

Pele draws 18,000 in San Diego game

SAN DIEGO (AP) — A crowd of nearly 18,000 persons braved chilly night winds and snarled traffic for a chance to see the absolute ruler of soccer, Pele.
Playing his first game in several months, the Brazilian great put on a dazzling display of moves, but failed to score as his New York Cosmos tied the host San Diego Jaws 1-1 Wednesday night in an exhibition match at Balboa Stadium.
It was the first game for the Cosmos in this North American Soccer League season.
New York carried the attack to the inexperienced Jaws throughout the night, outshooting them 25 to 10. But the New Yorkers squandered several good scoring chances, especially in the second half.
Near the end of the game, Pele narrowly missed a goal when he was awarded a penalty kick in front of the Jaws goal mouth. His kick struck the crossbar and glanced harmlessly away.

"I feel very good myself," Pele said after the game.
"I feel the team will prove. It will take time to get acquainted with each other," he added, noting that many of the Cosmos players are new to the club this year. "But we started that tonight."
"There's no doubt the team could have won. We just lost too many opportunities in the second half," said Pele.
Tommy Ord scored New York's goal three minutes into the first half on a kick that beat Jaws goalie Gary St. Clair. San Diego struck back in the second half on a goal by Keith Aqui, the fastest man in the NASL with a time of 9.4 seconds in the 100-yard dash. Aqui broke through a pack of players to rifle a kick past goalie Bob Rigby.

Kicking around

With Adrian Mercado and Willy Keo

TWENTY EIGHT YOUTH TEAMS from eight local American Youth Soccer Organizations (AYSO) met last weekend to compete for seven Area G crowns, and when it was all over, Claremont was counting seven first place victories. Upland captured three championships, Diamond Bar claimed two, and one each went to A.C.E. (Alta Loma, Cucamonga, Etiwanda), Ontario, and Chino; Pomona, and Hacienda Heights made a valiant effort but did not quite make the top.

After one week of well deserved rest each winner will go on to compete in the national playoffs starting April 3.

The qualifiers are the following for the Team Championship Playoffs: Division 6 boys (7-8), Claremont Jaws; Division 5 boys (9-10), Chino Cosmos; Division 4 boys (11-12), Upland Astros; Division 3 boys (13-14), Claremont Cosmos; Division 4 girls (7-9), Diamond Bar Gold-rushers; Division 3 girls (10-12), A.C.E. Jaguars; Division 2 girls (13-15), Claremont Thunderbirds.

The All-Star qualifiers are: Division 6 boys, Claremont; Division 5 boys, Diamond Bar; Division 4 boys, Upland; Division 3 boys, Claremont; Division 4 girls, Upland; Division 3 girls, Claremont; Division 2 girls, Claremont.

THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF AYSO AREA G met this week and elected Al Vecchio to a second two-year term. Al brings to this post great experience which spans two continents. KICKING AROUND queried him about his experience: "I started off like all these kids started off, and, if I remember correctly it was when I was eight years old. I played for the primary schools, high school, and after, I played for the Verona City College afterwards moving up to a third division team until the war broke out . . . a war that broke the dream of many aspiring young soccer players. I was away from home for about ten years and when I came back I was too old to pick up where I had left off.

"When I came to America in 1947, I played semi-professional for Mardiar for one season, Pasadena S.C. for another season, and International of Los Angeles for another season until it became time to hang the soccer shoes on a nail. I passed the referee test and refereed for 15 years in the Greater Los Angeles Soccer League. Ten years ago I joined AYSO and became a referee in this youth organization."

Al became Regional Commissioner for Claremont AYSO until the soccer boom made it a practical necessity to group several Regions into an Area under the control of an Area Director. When that reorganization occurred, Al Vecchio became Area Director for Area G.

THE CHAFFEY COLLEGE PANTHERS broke their winning streak of three wins when they tied El Camino City College 1-1 in a come-from-behind goal by right winger Kevin McKinstry. The constant hustle and drive of the home team confused and disarmed the visitors from Chaffey who could not put their passing game together.

The Panthers are away for the next three games facing Santa Ana College next Saturday at 11 a.m. Coach Frits Rosenveltdt advises Panther fans that a bus will leave from the gym area at 9 a.m. and vacant seats will be available free of charge to those fans who wish to travel with the team. Santa Ana's only loss was inflicted by Chaffey in the opening game of the season on a penalty shot 3-2.

THE L. A. SKYHAWKS, the second professional soccer club in the Los Angeles area is busy readying for its season opener against the Sacramento Spirits. The Skyhawks will play their home games at Birmingham Stadium in Van Nuys (Victory & Balboa). April 17 will be the season opener at home for the Skyhawks as well as the first 1976 season game for the American Soccer League. Reserved tickets will cost $5 and $3.50 with general admission set at $2.50; youth under age 16 will be charged $2.50 for reserved seating and $1.00 general admission.

Coach Ron Newman has announced the signing of six British players for the coming season: former Liverpool captain, Ron Yeats, twenty year old Ken Fogarty, who has been playing professionally since the age of 16, Mickey Cave, of York City, Jimmy Rolland, a Scot with more than 40 goals in the past season, Jimmy Hinch of York City, and Tony Whelan, a 22-year old striker who at age 19 played for Manchester United and Manchester City.

The Skyhawks also will count with the services of Steve Ralbovsky, number one college draft choice in both the North American Soccer League and the American Soccer League. He will be joining Philadelphia Textile star Brook Cryder, a second round draft pick. The All-American forward scored 48 goals during his four seasons at Textile.

THE L. A. AZTECS OF THE NASL will be hosting the Seattle Sounders this coming weekend. On Friday night, March 26, the Aztecs face Seattle in the Santa Ana Bowl (8 p.m.) and Sunday afternoon, March 28 they will square off again at 1:30 p.m. at the Rose Bowl, in Pasadena.

The locals defeated Seattle in Washington, 3-0, on goals by Bob McAlinden, and two by John Mason. The previous Friday, it was Bernie Fagan who left footed the ball from 10 yards out to give the "Tangerines" a 1-0 nip.

The Sounders have already dropped their first four pre-season games. They lost to San Jose 3-2, and Vancouver 4-0. Sounder Head Coach John Best expressed some displeasure with the club's performance tracing many of the problems to inexperience.

"We are currently playing a great number of young American players with minimal professional experience and it has shown at times. Although we would like to win, the result on the scoreboard is secondary to finding out which of these young lads are going to be in our final 16-man roster. I honestly believe that the players on the bench will determine which team wins the Western Division and NASL titles. This is why these games are so vital in assessing our American players now", said Best.

PELE WILL BE PLAYING IN L. A. on April 11 and is currently training with the New York Cosmos to get back to top form before the season opener. Pele had been scheduled to be at the team's opening training session, but he was delayed in Nigeria as a result of the abortive coup against the government following his African tour. "O Rei" then flew to New York to meet his wife and continued on to Miami and Brazil for business meetings. Pele was quoted as saying: "I feel that in about two weeks, or during our exhibition tour, I'll be about 80 per cent perfect as far as physical condition is concerned, and by the time the season starts I'll be 100 per cent."

The Cosmos' exhibition tour began last night in San Diego, on March 28 KICKIN' AROUND will be in Dallas to see Pele and the Cosmos face the Tornado and twice Superstar Kyle Rote Jr. Pele then flies to Phoenix on the 4th of April, Seattle on the 7th, and to Los Angeles for the April 11 match against the Aztecs at the Coliseum.

Asked whether he will play for Team America or Brazil in this year's Bicentennial Cup, Pele said, "There are still some things to work out, but I'm almost certain that I will play for Team America". If that is the case, then the Angelinos will not be seeing Pele when Brazil vs. England on May 23rd at the Coliseum in the only Bicentennial Cup game awarded to Los Angeles.

MOVING ON TO THE INTERNATIONAL SERENDIPITY we find that: LONDON — With England's National "A" Team eliminated from the European Nation's Cup every effort was made to give its "B" team (Under 23 years of age) a shot at the Nation's Cup. Their hopes dimmed somewhat on March 10 when the Hungarians blanked them in Budapest 3-0. Last Tuesday, dim turned to black for the English when they defeated the visitors 3-1 thus losing their bid at the quarter finals by virtue of a 4-3 goal aggregate in favor of the Hungarians. ROME — As a result of the loss suffered by Juventus (2-1) against Cesena, Torino moved up to within three points of the leader by defeating Roma 1-0.

Diamond Bar wins, Claremont loses

The Pacific Soccer League Spittin' Image Claremont Kings lost on penalty kicks to San Ysidro of the San Diego League last Saturday in a Division II State Challenge Cup game.

San Ysidro, undefeated in San Diego play this year, jumped off to a quick 2-0 lead in the first half. The Kings came alive in the second half to score goals by Matt Smith and John Carroll. Both assists were credited to Greg Eyrich. The regulation game ended in a 2-2 tie.

Neither team could score in the two 15-minute overtime periods and the Kings were finally edged 4-3 in penalty kicks. Goalkeeper Steve Tipping was again outstanding for the Kings as was fullback Doug Jolly-

The Diamond Bar Kickers had an easier time in their Division IV quarter-final game with the Fountain Valley Ravens, winning 13-0. Paul Caligiuri with five goals and Jeff Ratajczak with two goals led the Kickers' scoring parade. Single goals were scored by Rob Beaird, Mike Brocki, Rocky Crisp, Brian Mullan, Guy Pagan, and James Ratajczak.

This Saturday, the Kings will play the South Bay Vikings at 2 p.m. in a PSL Cup game. The Kickers will play a semifinal State Challenge Cup game against the Orange Lions of the Orange Coast Soccer League at 4 p.m. Both games will be played at El Roble Intermediate School.

ACA triumphs, Knights falter

American Christian Academy clobbered Calvary Baptist, 22-3, while Ontario Christian lost to visiting Brethren, 8-2, in Wednesday's prep baseball action.

The Minutemen used 11 hits, 11 Calvary errors and a three-hitter by pitcher Rick Sherman to improve their Christian League record to 2-0 and their overall mark to 6-1.

American Christian will host Victor Valley Friday at 3:15 p.m. at Ralph Welch Park before taking on Calvary Baptist again in a makeup game Monday at the same site.

Brethren exploded for six runs in the top of the seventh inning to break a 2-2 tie with the Knights. Guy Krant's two-run double highlighted the inning, which included just two hits, two errors and four walks.

Steve Lanting singled home an OCHS run in the fourth and losing pitcher Hank Bouwman doubled home another in the fifth to account for the Knight scoring.

Brethren pitcher Bill Dennistoun, a sophomore held the Knights to six hits while the visitors collected only five.

Ontario Christian (1-2, 2-6) will visit L.A. Baptist Tuesday.

Third place target for San Diego fans

YUMA Ariz. (AP) — With a little luck, the San Diego Padres might have more to celebrate this year than the Bicentennial. How does third place in the National League West sound?

Two years ago, that prediction might have drawn attention only from a psychiatrist. But a lot has changed since then.

On paper, at least, the Padres aren't nearly strong enough to challenge either Los Angeles or Cincinnati for the two top spots in the division. On paper, perhaps no one is.

But if San Diego can get stronger performances out of more of their pitchers and most of their hitters, the Padres have a chance to beat out San Francisco, Atlanta, and Houston for third.

The Padres finished fourth last year, out of the cellar for the first time since they entered the National League in 1969.

"We don't have to waste time anymore establishing an attitude," said manager John McNamara. "After last year, I know everyone on the club feels we can be competitive."

On the other hand, the Giants' future is unsettled at best, Houston will have to come back from a total collapse in 1975 and Atlanta hasn't been the same since Hank Aaron left— when the Braves weren't that good to begin with.

The Padres' biggest change last season was the emergence of Randy Jones. The young left-hander came back from a horrible 1974 season to win 20 games against 12 losses, with six shutouts and a 2.24 earned-run average. In one season, he became San Diego's first pitching star and the main man in the starting rotation.

Young Brent Strom, 8-8 and 2.55 ERA, also had some strong moments as a starter. But after that, the quality of starting pitching tailed off considerably.

That meant that relievers Danny Frisella and Dave Tomlin saw a lot of action in 1975, too much to suit the Padres' brass. Frisella posted a 3.12 ERA in 65 appearances and Tomlin was 3.55 in 67. But, like the starters, the bullpen needs reinforcements.

The pitchers considered most likely to help are starters Joe McIntosh, 8-15, and Dave Freisleben, 4-15; relievers Bill Greif and Rich Folkers and rookie Butch Metzger, who was 15-7 at Hawaii last year. Alan Foster, acquired last season from St. Louis, had arm trouble and was a major disappointment.

In the hitting department, Willie McCovey, whose aging knees have consigned him to platooning at first base with Mike Ivie, had a productive year in '75 with 23 home runs. How long he can continue at that pace is anyone's guess.

Outfielder Dave Winfield has yet to blossom into the superstar most observers expect, batting .267 with a paltry 15 homers last year. But Winfield has all the physical tools and an attitude to match. All he seems to need is time, which the Padres seem willing to give him.

Outfielder Johnny Grubb, who is supposed to be the club's most consistent hitter, fell off last year to .267. And after Grubb, the hitting really fell off. Winfield was the No. 2 home-run hitter and Ivie was third with only eight.

Padres At A Glance
1975 Finish—Fourth in National League West.
Strengths—Good young hitters aided at plate by veterans Willie McCovey and Dave Winfield; a snappy infield, a fairly consistent outfield, young pitching headed by 20-game winner Randy Jones.
Weaknesses—Lack of pitching depth; lack of consistent hitting for average; unstable catching situation; inadequate bullpen depth.
New Faces—Third baseman Doug Rader, from Houston; outfielder Willie Davis, from St. Louis; shortstop Rudy Meoli, from California, and rookie pitcher Butch Metzger, from Hawaii of Pacific Coast League.
1976 Forecast—Challenging for third.

Twins face contract woes

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — The Minnesota Twins go into the 1976 season with 19 unsigned players and a new manager.

"Contract problems shouldn't affect us at all," said veteran skipper Gene Mauch, who takes over the young team after 16 seasons in the National League.

"It takes a lot of guts for a player to play without signing his contract," said Mauch. "He would have nothing to gain by not playing to the best of his abilities. The better he plays, the better his bargaining power."

Perhaps the next biggest obstacle for Mauch to overcome will be the three-week delay in the start of spring training because of the ongoing labor problems between club owners and players.

"We'll spend the entire spring training working hard on fundamentals," said Mauch.

"He's certainly impressed everyone with his own personal dedication," said a camp observer. "He's out there himself. Telling them how he wants them to do things."

But, it's a crash program Mauch is running the Twins through and the rookies will have a tough time catching on with the team in a three week spring training.

Mauch's biggest concern is getting the pitcher's arms in shape for the regular season, which begins April 9 at Texas.

Right-handers Bert Blyleven, Jim Hughes and Dave Goltz combined for 45 victories last season and should have starting assignments locked up. Joe Decker, who won 16 games in 1974, is attempting to regain his control and win a spot in the regular rotation. Eddie Bane, a left-hander, and Steve Luebber have the best chances of the newcomers to for starting roles.

Vic Albury, Bill Butler and Ray Corbin, who had bone chips removed from his right elbow late last season, could also earn starting jobs. Bill Campbell and lefty Tom Burgmeier are returning for another season as the Twins' short relievers.

Five-time batting champion Rod Carew is being used at first base in spring training and is making a good adjustment. Carew, who won his fourth straight title with a .359 average in 1975, is being replaced at second base by Jerry Terrell.

Shortstop is wide open and of a major concern to Mauch, who prides himself upon having a strong defense up the middle. Incumbent Danny Thompson hasn't had a good season in three years. Luis Gomez is steady defensively, but a light hitter.

Third baseman Eric Soderholm is coming off a knee injury suffered last August and at age 27 appears to be moving into the prime of his career.

Second-year players Lyman Bostock and Danny Ford and hard-hitting Larry Hise, who is also coming off surgery, are the likely starters in the outfield. The three speedsters could give the Twins their best defensive outfield in the club's history.

Steve Brye, a proven hitter and defensive player, will add depth as the team's fourth outfielder.

Wynegar, a switch hitter, finished with a .314 batting average, 19 home runs and 112 runs batted in last year at Reno in the Class AA California League.

handed power hitter, was impressive in camp last spring and is the man the Twins hope will soon be able to answer their longball needs. The 215-pound first baseman has averaged 20 home runs a year in four minor league seasons.

The Twins have been one of baseball's best hitting teams for several years and should have a potent attack again.

Carew, 30, has hit .358 and averaged 205 hits a year the past three seasons. He also finished with career highs of 14 home runs and 80 runs batted in last season.

Twins At A Glance
1975 finish—Fourth in American League West.
Strengths—Hitting attack led by perennial batting champion Rod Carew and fast, good defensive outfield in Larry Hise, Dan Ford and Lyman Bostock.
Weaknesses—Lack of proven left-handed pitching, shortstop and catcher—all key positions up for grabs in spring training.
New faces—Manager Gene Mauch, rookie catcher Harold "Butch" Wynegar and right-handed pitcher Steve Luebber.
1976 forecast—Third place in American League West.

CHAMPION — Robert Lange of the Concord Spring Open Table Tennis championship.

Ontario man wins tourney

Robert Lange, 24-year-old former U.S. Table Tennis Champ from Ontario, won the Concord Spring Open Championship this past weekend at Ygnacio High School in Concord.

Lange's matches saw him playing mostly Oriental players, renowned for their ability, throughout the draw. Zuk Vu of Vietnam was his opponent in the finals.

Vu won the first game and Lange the next two in the best three-of-five series. Vu caught fire and held the Ontarian to just eight points in the fourth game.

But with the final contest tied, 5-5, Lange took charge and smashed 14 straight all-out "kill shots" to win the Class A title and first place prize money.

Banditos rate 8th in nation

The Diamond Bar Banditos, a Jr. Pee-wee Pop Warner football team consisting of 8-10-year-olds, has been ranked eighth nationally out of several thousand teams in this category of Pop Warner ball, and has been invited to participate in the Hula Bowl in Hawaii during Thanksgiving vacation this year.

The 1975 Banditos won the Mt. Baldy Conference title in their division with a 12-0 record and just six points scored against them.

They went on to tie the North San Diego Poway team, the defending national champion, in late November.

Coaches of the Banditos were Don Greeley, Don Stokes, Ed Carcelli, Floyd Yomans and Don Riggs.

Team members are currently engaged in fund-raising projects to partially offset the costs of the trip to Hawaii.

A bowling league is being organized to help raise funds. League play will begin in May with bowling Thursday and Friday nights at 9 p.m. at Landmark Bowl.

Interested bowlers may contact Val Stokes at 595-8890 or Judy Biggs at 595-7606.

Football sign-ups scheduled

Diamond Bar Pop Warner Football League will hold a registration for prospective players Monday, April 5, at the Diamond Bar Country Club from 6 to 9 p.m. On hand to meet the prospects and autograph photographs will be Ron Yary, All-Pro defensive tackle from the Minnesota Vikings and a former All-America selection at USC.

A $20 sign-up fee for each participant will be payable by the time the prospective player is given a physical examination. The cost includes playing fees, equipment, insurance and a monogrammed jersey which the boy may keep.

Further information may be obtained by calling Michael Guy at 595-3729, Bill Angevine at 595-9682 or Terry Tuttle at 595-5338.

Coaches for the respective divisions will be Arnie Fontes, (midget, 11-13-year-olds), Bill Angevine (jr. midget, 10-12), Don Greeley (pee wee, 9-11), Frank Warrick (jr. pee wee, 8-10) and Ed Carcelli (tiny tots, 8-9).

A's games on power station

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Radio station KNBR announced Wednesday it will broadcast all Oakland A's baseball games this season.

The contract calls for live broadcasts of home games but delayed broadcasts of most road games.

The A's games were carried on KNBR from 1968 to 1970. The station has a strong signal which carries into Southern California, and A's owner Charles O. Finley said Wednesday "Dodger fans probably will be tuning in the A's games instead of the Dodgers."

Mexicali hosts bullfights

MEXICALI — Manolo Martinez, Eloy Cavazos and Antonio Lomelin will face six bulls from the Valparaiso Ranch at 2:30 p.m. at Plaza Calafia Sunday.

The card represents a rare conjunction of superstar matadors. Each is a top category bullfighter in Spain as well as Mexico, and three aces of their standing are seldom seen on a single card except during major fiestas.

Martinez, 30, of Monterey, is Mexico's No. 1 bullfighter. He is widely considered the best matador fighting anywhere today.

Sunday's corrida will also mark the debut of the

49ers move training site

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers announced Wednesday they are moving their preseason training camp closer to home, to the campus of Santa Clara University.

Santa Clara is 45 miles south of San Francisco. For the past eight years, the National Football League team has held summer training camp in Santa Barbara, 300 miles down the California coast.

MARIO ESCUDERO

Mario Escudero

Guitarist sets MSAC concert

Flamenco guitarist Mario Escudero will present a recital in the Social Science Center at Mt. San Antonio College at 7:30 p.m. April 4. This is the final program of MSAC's Celebrity Concert Series.

Escudero gave his first concert at the age of 9, performing with Maurice Chevalier in Bordeaux, France. At 14 he had already earned a European reputation and began regular tours of Europe, performing with such stars as Jose Greco, Carmen Amaya and the team of Rosario and Antonio.

However, Escudero's aim was to establish himself as a soloist in his own right. When he appeared in concert at Carnegie Hall, a full-house audience greeted his performance with tremendous acclaim, and a second concert was scheduled soon after. The same acclaim followed when he became the first flamenco guitarist to tour the Soviet Union in solo recital.

Tickets to this concert are limited and should be obtained immediately since Escudero attracts sell-out crowds. Tickets, $4 for general admission and $2 for students, may be obtained at the MSAC Community Services Office and Wallich's and Liberty agencies.

Pomona plans music program

The Pomona College music department will present a program of early American music in Bridges Hall at 8:15 p.m. Saturday. Admission is free.

The program will feature Elwood Peterson, baritone; Anne McMillan, soprano; Peter Hewitt, pianist; the Pomona College glee clubs (William F.

Russell, conductor); the Pomona College Five and Drum Corps; and members of the Pomona College Symphony Orchestra.

W. Thomas Marroco will speak on music of colonial America. The program will conclude with the singing of "For Adams and Liberty," to the tune of the National Anthem, with the audience participating.

JANET BLAIR AND PATRICIA MORISON will star in "Winner Take All" opening May 18 at the Huntington Hartford Theater in Hollywood. The musical covers a 50-year span in the lives of two early Women's Libbers, Tennessee Claflin and Victoria Woodhull. The show has book, music and lyrics by Russell Hunter.

MAGIC MOUNTAIN, Valencia amusement park, will hold a custom van convention from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday. Hundreds of customized vans, including the nationally known Gladiator and Old Glory, will be on view. Admission of $6.95 includes all the rides, shows and dancing to rock bands.

THE NEW MICKEY MOUSE CLUB, with 65 new half-hour color shows, will go into production in June, scheduled for telecast in 1977. The series was prompted by the successful revival of the original black-and-white series now in syndication throughout the United States. The new shows will have Disney cartoons, new Mickey Mouse animation on contemporary themes and new Mousketeers and adventure serials.

STAGE, SCREEN AND TELEVISION STAR Susan Strasberg will replace Joan Hackett as Hesione Hushabye in George Bernard Shaw's "Heartbreak House" opening April 7 at the Westwood Playhouse, Los Angeles. Miss Hackett had to withdraw because of a scheduling conflict. Also starring will be Tige Andrews, Robert Loggia, Donald Moffat and Joan van Ark.

SOMERS, Conn. (AP) — Stephen Hayes is an attractive 23-year old man who says he lives within two prisons at the same time. Only one of them has bars.

Hayes is an inmate at the Connecticut Correctional Institute here. He is also paralyzed from the shoulders down. When not in a wheel chair, he spends his time in bed, being turned every few hours.

"I just wish I could go back to March 28, 1974. That's the day I last walked out of here," said Hayes who had been paroled at the time.

He said he drew his first jail sentence at age 16 and since then has been in and out of jail on charges of assault, burglary and escaping from prison.

But on Dec. 17, several months after he had originally been paroled, Hayes was shot by a guard when he tried to bolt from Rockville Superior Court. He had been sent back to prison for purchasing a gun and thus violating parole.

He was being presented in court that day on a charge of escaping from the Somers prison.

Authorities said he bolted down the hallway of the courthouse when he was shot. The bullet damaged the tissues surrounding the spinal cord, according to doctors who treated Hayes.

"Now I'm in a prison within a prison. My body is my lifetime prison," Hayes said.

"I just don't know what tomorrow holds. The doctor said I'd never get out of bed. I don't want to spend the rest of my life in this bed in prison."

Listening to the radio, watching television, and sometimes playing chess are his activities. When there's a movie being shown at the prison, he's strapped to a wheel chair and allowed to watch.

The state would like to release Hayes, but there is no place for him to go.

Hayes says he doesn't want to be a burden to his brother and mother, and his grandparents are too old.

There's a family in Montana with whom he's been corresponding since his paralysis.

"When Joseph and Nila Smith found out what happened to me they wanted to take care of me. They own a farm in Sunburst. They've expressed unbelievable concern. I guess it's Christian love," said Hayes.

round-the-clock attention

Hayes needs. "I'm scheduled for release from here in about 1980. What am I going to do then? Where will I go? I want to go somewhere where I have some hope of getting better," he said.

But, he added, "I'm not through as long as I'm not dead from the neck up."

Almanac

By The Associated Press

Today is Thursday, March 25, the 85th day of 1976. There are 281 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1821, Greeks began a revolt against domination by the Ottoman Empire. The uprising ended 12 years later with the establishment of the independent Kingdom of Greece.

On this date — In 1634, English colonists under Lord Baltimore reached Maryland.

In 1865, in the Civil War, Confederate forces captured Fort Stedman in Virginia.

In 1883, a revolution broke out in Haiti.

In 1941, in World War II, Yugoslavia joined the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo alliance.

In 1964, Britain donated an acre of land at Runnymede, where the Magna Carta was signed, for a memorial to President John Kennedy.

Ten years ago: Five climbers became the first to reach the summit of Mount Eiger in the Swiss Alps.

Five years ago: South Vietnamese forces had withdrawn from an invasion of Laos, and it was reported they suffered casualties of nearly 50 per cent.

One year ago: King Faisal of Saudi Arabia was assassinated in Riyadh by a nephew with a history of mental illness, and Faisal's brother, Crown Prince Khalid, succeeded to the throne.

Today's birthday: Actress Nancy Kelly is 55.

Thought for today: One of the difficult tasks in this world is to convince a woman that even a bargain costs money — Ed Howe, American writer, 1853-1937.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, the Continental Congress in Philadelphia voted to present a gold medal to General George Washington for his role in the siege and final takeover of Boston from the British.

FOLKLORE ARTS — Wood carver Jim Shafer shows a miniature house to Mrs. Ralph Spaulding, center, of the Claremont Branch of AAUW, and Helen Shafer. An exciting collection of American arts and crafts has been gathered for home tour on April 3 in Claremont.

Six homes open for tour

In keeping with the Bicentennial Year, members of the Claremont Branch of the American Association of University Women conducted an extensive research into the history and development of Claremont's homes before selecting six for its ninth annual tour of homes.

The homes will be open for inspection on April 3 from 1 to 5 p.m. In addition, an old-fashioned garden tea and a "Faire Americana" has been included.

General chairmen for the tour are Mrs. Larry Jacoby, Mrs. Robert Bright-felt and Mrs. James Edwards.

Mrs. E. J. Vermilyea, chairman of the house selection committee, was assisted by Mrs. Peter Weber who did much of the historical research.

The first home, and the oldest on the tour, is the Sumner House, located at the corner of College Avenue and First Street. The house was built in 1887 by Charles B. Sumner, minister of the Congregational Church in Pomona and a founder of Pomona College. The house was first located near Sumner Avenue and Foothill Boulevard but was moved to its present location by "horse train." This took over 30 days and was accomplished while the Sumner family continued to live in the house.

A mansion in its day, the Sumner house stands as an authentic sample of the Victorian era.

The second house on the tour is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Batcheller. It was built in 1891 by the first dean of Pomona College, Edwin Norton. At the time of its construction, the house was the farthest north house in the community. Claremont's first school house still stands in the back yard.

At about the time that Claremont Graduate School was established in 1925, a graceful two-story Colonial house was built at the corner of Eighth Street and Dartmouth Avenue to serve as the residence for college presidents. Today, the house is used as a center for study of recordings of ancient times.

Tea, featuring authentic colonial refreshments, will be served in the garden of this home under the direction of Mrs. Edmund Gunter, Mrs. Harold Goode and Mrs. Gustav Wassel.

The Depression years left a mark on Claremont as well as the rest of the nation. It was during this period that Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Black personally built their home in the rocky soil of the Claremont lemon groves. This is still one of the last working groves in the area.

Folklore arts and crafts of Americana will be featured at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Horowitz, both professor of American history at Scripps College.

At the sixth site, tour visitors will be given an exciting look into America's past through furniture, crystal and ornaments at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Tessier.

The "Faire Americana" at the Sumner House is under the supervision of Mrs. Ralph A. Spaulding who has gathered a collection of American memorabilia, quilts, recipes dating to the Revolutionary days, a magnificent collection of Victorian dolls and a 100-year-old spinning wheel. Proceeds from the tour will go towards the AAUW Educational Foundation which has assisted hundreds of women seeking to advance their education.

Tickets will be available at the homes on the day of the tour or may be purchased in advance from the ticket chairman, Mrs. Sue Cooper, (213) 335-6213, or Mrs. Robert Brightfelt, 626-5182.

Heritage is topic for OES

Pomona Chapter Order of the Eastern Star, 110, will meet Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Masonic Temple, 395 S. Thomas St.

"The Heritage of Pomona Valley" will be the theme for the evening with Mrs. Lawerance Manchin and her committee in charge of decorations. Mrs. Mamie Fuller and Mrs. Margaret McWilliams will be in charge of the guest book.

Emblem Club charts Friday installation

Mrs. Jeanne Plutte will be installed as president of Pomona Emblem Club 196 at ceremonies Friday at 8 p.m. in the Pomona Elks Lodge.

The past supreme president of Emblem Clubs of the United States, Mrs. Clara Miller of Burbank, will serve as installing officer. She will be assisted by Mrs. Nadine Burns from San Fernando.

The outgoing president, Mrs. Jean Wooten, will be seated as junior past president.

Others taking offices are Mmes. Jo Anne Mix, first vice president; Lori Heyman, second vice president; Kay Kendall, financial secretary; Eunice Parsonage, treasurer; Jo Anne Olson, recording secretary; Flossie Entler, chairman of trustees; Betty Hanson, second trustee; and Barbara Cooley, third trustee.

Also on the board for the new year will be Mmes. Genie Murray, first assistant marshal; Dottie Van Der Linde, second assistant marshal; Frankie Edwards, chaplain; Ilene Gunske, organist; Elinor Livingston, press correspondent; Peggy Smith, historian; Peggy Masters, first guard; and Carol Ward, second guard.

Appointed officers are Mmes. Ernestine Pitts, marshal; Randi Teeters, corresponding secretary; and Helen Stott, parliamentarian.

members of the Pomona Elks Lodge 789.

Honored guests will include Mayor Ray Lepire, Fred Van Der Linde, Elks ruler-elect, and Mrs. Suvilla Fifer, supreme district deputy.

Most of the members of the installation committee are past presidents of the Emblem Club. Committee members include Mmes. Gene Weddle, chairman; Pitts, decorations; Marie Knox and Stott, hostesses; Gunske, guest book; Parsonage, corsages; and Charlott Beeson, refreshments. George Van Horn and Mrs. Gypsy Adams will handle photography.

Members of the Pomona club will attend the California Emblem Club state convention to be held in Palm Springs in April.

Mrs. Plutte and all past presidents are automatic delegates. Other delegates are Mmes. Murray, Edwards, La Pierre, Dorothy Lundie, Peggie Jankowski, Betty Hanson and Phyllis Patterson.

Gateway tea set Sunday

A film and panel discussion will highlight the Gateway House Auxiliary membership tea Sunday afternoon.

All interested persons are invited to the tea from 3 to 5 p.m. in the Louise Roberts Room at the Church of Christ, Congregational, Claremont.

The film to be shown is "Seventeen and Pregnant." This will be followed by a panel discussion by social workers and other professional personnel.

Gateway House was established in Pomona four years ago to serve the needs of the school-age mother.

Casino party set by group

"Casino Moulin Rouge" is the theme for the annual party of the Casa Alegre Auxiliary of the Children's Home Society of California Saturday evening.

The 11th annual casino party of the auxiliary is planned at the Pomona National Golf Club.

Mrs. Martin Bauman and Mrs. Paul Lightfoot are party chairmen. Invitations were designed by Mrs. Harlan Omid. Mrs. Walter Grover and Mrs. Donald Wood were in charge of the advertisement book.

The evening will include a dinner, dancing to the music of the Berger Brothers and gaming tables manned by the Pomona Jaycees.

Proceeds from the event will be used for the Children's Home Society, a private counseling and adoption agency. The society provides foster homes for many children waiting to be placed in permanent adoptive homes, provides medical care for those children who require it and provides counseling for adoptive parents, unwed mothers and adolescents who have an incompatible home situation.

Party reservations may be made by calling 626-0896.

Clothes can tell your personality

By HOWARD ULMAN
Associated Press Writer
STORRS, Conn. (AP) — You could get a pretty good idea of an individual's personality merely by observing the clothes he wears for a month, says a professor studying habits of dress.

"I think clothing is a very good means of communication. But if you take one look at a person you may read him wrong. You have to look over a time," Dr. Mary Lou Rosencranz said in an interview.

People must be observed in a variety of settings for a person to get an accurate impression, says the University of Connecticut author of "Clothing Concepts: A Social-Psychological Approach."

Many people don't realize how much they use clothing to communicate with others, says Dr. Rosencranz. People who dress as others in their group may be saying they want to be accepted, while those whose clothing doesn't conform may be asserting their individuality, she says.

A person dressing for a job interview usually takes a conservative approach, she says, "because you're trying to communicate that you're serious-minded."

A young girl, preparing for her first date, might overdo her makeup and wear more mature clothes to present a picture of sophistication to her escort, Dr. Rosencranz says.

"Clothing in first impression is quite important and people do give thought to this," she adds.

Dr. Rosencranz says psychological factors play a key role in how a person dresses.

"Several studies document that extroverted people like brighter colors, the warmer colors," such as red, orange and yellow, she says. Studies show introverted people tend to favor cooler colors, such as blue, green and purple, she adds.

"Some studies have shown that people who are outgoing wear bolder patterns and inhibited people choose smaller patterns," says Dr. Rosencranz, who is teaching an undergraduate course on "Clothing and Human Behavior."

Dressing habits might also indicate the mental health of a person, she says.

"People who wear very bizarre, strange things usually have some kind of problem." When people improve their sloppy manner of dress, "this is usually a sign that their self-concept is improving."

League charts 'Jailbreak' fete

The annual spring party of the Assistance League of Pomona Valley will continue the group's tradition of having unique party themes.

This year, it's "Jailbird Break-out."

Activities will get underway on April 2 at 8:30 p.m. at the Ontario Elks Club, 1150 W. Fourth St., Ontario, and music for dancing will be provided by the Lou Catalano band.

Invitations, in the form of subpoenas, have been mailed to prospective guests. Those guests who desire may appear wearing costumes depicting the "crimes" for which they were "arrested" or the clothing worn when they were "subpoenaed."

Setting the scene as guests enter the premises will be a police line-up, where mug shots of each guest will be taken and proper identification made.

In keeping with the theme, "inmates" will be served a light supper on tin plates late in the evening.

Cochairmen of the event are Mrs. John Slagle and Mrs. Dan E. Simmons. Mrs. Richard Imwalle is in charge of decorations. Assisting in other capacities are Mmes. Allen Ackerman, Clifton Allen, William Bentley, James R. Laird, Jerald B. Laird, John S. Miller, Charles Pacini, Thomas Pierlek and John L. Whitman.

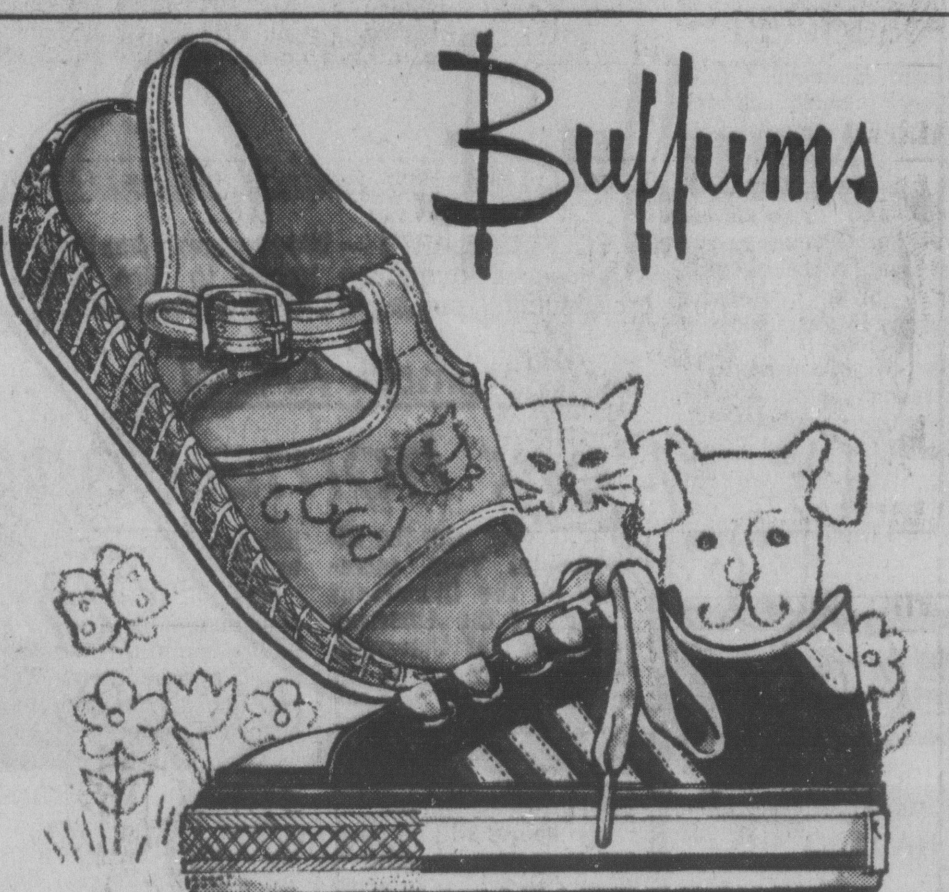

Tickets may be purchased from Mrs. Ackerman or by contacting any league member.

Johnny Wonder's QUESTION CORNER

Whooping cranes are large, white birds with black wingtips, long, stiltlike legs and long necks. They resemble storks and herons. Whooping cranes are found only in North America. The whooping crane's name comes from its loud, buglelike call that can be heard a mile or more away. The booming voice is aided by the whooping crane's remarkable windpipe which may be fully five feet long, the first part of which is coiled like a hunting horn within the bird's hollow breastbone. The whooping crane is North America's tallest bird — as well as one of the rarest birds in the world. A large adult whooping crane can stand over five feet tall and have a wingspread of more than 7 feet.

At one time, there were only 18 or so "whoopers" left in the world. Since then, the number of whoopers has risen slowly, because of the dedicated efforts made by bird lovers to save these and other rare wild birds from extinction.

A pocket radio, camera, World Almanac globe or other line prize will be awarded to the first youngster sending in a question used here. Send your question and your age to Johnny Wonder, c/o this newspaper, Box 1335 (DA), Santa Cruz, CA 95061.

Bill seeks ban on neck chains for prisoners

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The use of neck chains on prison inmates would be outlawed under a bill introduced by a liberal legislator.

Assemblyman Alan Sieroty, D-Los Angeles, has called neck-chaining "a medieval practice no longer necessary or consistent with a modern system of corrections."

He said the state Department of Corrections recently put new restrictions on the use of neck chains, but still allows them to control a prisoner who is being moved within a prison or transferred to a new prison.

The bill is AB 3742.

Bell: tough battle to oust Tunney

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Ousting Democrat John Tunney from the U.S. Senate "won't be easy," says Rep. Alphonzo Bell, R-Calif., one of four men seeking the Republican nomination.

Bell, launching a 1,500-mile, 140-city campaign tour, said that he expects to live most of the next 82 days in his mobile campaign headquarters.

"I will be repeating to Republicans in every city we visit... that Sen. John Tunney can be beaten in November but it won't be easy," he said.

Bell, a multimillionaire, said he has sold his Bell Petroleum Co. of California "so there can be no conflict of interest."

The others seeking the GOP nomination to oppose Tunney are S.I. Hayakawa, Robert Finch and John Harmer.

Bell said he has budgeted $600,000 for the race and has already spent $60,000 of his own money on the campaign. But he told reporters, "it's certainly not going to be all my money."

The greatest problem in his campaign, he said, "is my limited name identification outside the greater Los Angeles area."

CLARENCE RITTMANN AMONG THOSE PROPOSING "NEW CENTURY'S EVE"

Chicago, IL — "The wearing of formal attire is on the upswing in this Bicentennial year, and this trend will continue throughout the year-long celebration," according to Clarence Rittmann, owner of Rittmann's Tux Shoppe, Pomona, California.

Mr. Rittmann made this observation while attending the American Formalwear Association annual meeting, held in conjunction with the Menswear Retailers of America Annual Convention and Exhibition at McCormick Place here, March 12-14.

The formalwear specialist was among those proposing a national celebration of "New Century's Eve" for Saturday, July 3, 1976.

"Each year the entire world watches the clock on New Year's Eve to watch the new calendar year come in. Is it not appropriate that we Americans stand together on July 3 to celebrate the turn of a new century for our great country?" he explained.

He reminded his fellow formalwear specialists at the meeting that today's more fashionable formal dress style is extremely close to the style of dress worn 200 years ago when this country was born... so what better way of celebrating that date than in formal attire, as our ancestors did."

The more than 10,000 industry figures participating in the annual MRA Convention include presidents of major apparel manufacturing firms, executives of the largest U.S. textile mills, and leading formalwear and specialty men's store owners and executives from throughout the United States.

A NON X-RATED STRIP SHOP?

Impossible! you say. Well, there's one opening in Pomona! No, it's not of the type that lends itself to visions of the feminine form. Rather, it is along the lines of the wooden cigar-store Indian, dealing with wooden furniture and painted metals. The new strip shop, called Super Stripper, with its grand opening March 24th, is owned and operated by brothers Jim and Leroy Pifer. They will employ handstripping, along with the latest technique of stripping furniture by the use of the dip-tank. The furniture or piece to be stripped is dipped into a tank containing a special solution which is harmless to the wood but which removes all sealer, stain, paint, lacquer or varnish from the surface down to the bare wood.

Super Stripper will service antique and used furniture stores as well as the general public, and will be of special interest to anyone who wishes not to deal with the messy and tedious job of stripping a desirable piece of furniture prior to refinishing it. The philosophy of Super Stripper is simply that of preserving and beautifying old and used furniture by providing such a service to the general public at reasonable prices. "With the artificial-type furniture being produced today, mainly brought about by rising labor and lumber costs, preserving the furniture one has makes sense," states Leroy Pifer. "You'd be surprised what a new face-lift can do to a seemingly ugly and useless piece of furniture."

Super Stripper will not be limited to stripping furniture, however. "We can strip almost anything made out of wood or metal," notes Jim Pifer. "To name a few, this would include hutches, chairs, tables, picture and mirror frames, sconces, range burners, wagon wheels, metal benches, dressers, cabinet doors, bookcases, ice boxes and buffets."

Super Stripper will also provide refinishing, caning and repairs. Pick-up and delivery service will also be available. The building is located in the Mark C. Bloome complex at 1205 E. Holt in Pomona, just west of Indian Hill Village. They can be reached by dialing (714) 622-1591.

ALL DAY SEMINAR ON "ADVENTURES IN CREATIVE THINKING & EXPRESSION" TO BE PRESENTED

Mr. Thomas Traugott Zurcher, teacher of Epistemology and Human Relations, will present an all day seminar on Adventures in Creative Thinking and Expression. Gaining self confidence, realizing and using more of ones potential, understanding others and self are some of the goals to be achieved.

There will be a free demonstration lecture on Friday, March 26, at 8:00 p.m. The seminar is scheduled for Saturday, March 27, 10:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m. at Howard Johnson's Motor Inn, 721 Indian Hill Boulevard, Claremont, California.

Mr. Zurcher spent the first twenty years of his life in his native country, Switzerland. He immigrated to the United States in 1954. Since then, he has experienced life as student, soldier, husband, father, businessman and pastor. He is presently conducting lectures, classes and seminars throughout the southland.
